Hello,

My name is Doris McCullohs. My husband is the great great grandson of Dempsey P. McCullohs. We worked on the family tree some two years ago.

I have some records for old bibles and relatives who still live in the area if you need information. We found it helpful to spend time at the records building in Atlanta. We also have been to the graves of the McCullohs family in Waverly Hall Ga.

Please tell us who you are and your family tree as you see it to Dempsey P.

I am looking foward to hearing from you e-mail.

My husband's great-great grandfather was Dempsey Pat McCullohs.
We have the following:

Dempsey Pat McCulloh, b. ca. 1814 in SC (per 1860 census), d. ca. 1892, Waverly Hall, GA — 7 JAN.
married 1835
Mary Brinson, b. ca. 1818 in GA (per 1860 census), d. ca. 1899, Waverly Hall, GA — 3 APR. 1884

My husband is related through their daughter Missouri, b. Dec 13, 1840 in GA. She married William Boswell on Nov. 16, 1856 in Talbot Co. They had six children: William Brantley, b. 1857, d. 1870. (He is buried adjacent to his mother in Waverly Hall.); Mary Susan b. 1861, d. 1935 (She is my husbands grandmother. She married Charlie Harris King in 1891 and lived in Cataula Ga most of her life. She and husband are buried in Cataula); Daniel Evans, b. 1866, d. 1938, lived most of adult life in Atlanta area; Caroline Amanda, b. 1867, d. 1895 (Lived most of life in Texas, which is where family moved in 1876 and lived remainder of life there); Fannie Maud, b. 1870, d. 1961 in Texas; Fletcher Missouri, b. 1872, d. 1950 in Texas.

There were five more Boswell's by second wife, Rebecca Morgan, who all moved to Texas.

I believe Missouri McCulloh Boswell had two brothers, one who was Captain (?) of regiment--the same regiment under which William Boswell served.

I also read that there were two McCullohs sisters who lived in Waverly Hall, and taught piano.

Susie Mae (as Mary Susan was known) lived with her McCullohs grandparents when her father left for Civil War, and continued to live with them upon his return. She was a teacher, and played piano, taught her daughters (my husband's aunts) to play piano.

Sounds like you may not have too much more than this. We keep searching.

Please pass along any info you may have

My mother's maternal grandfather was Dempsey Pat McCollister.
We have this lineage:

Dempsey Pat McCollister, b. ca. 1814 in SC (per 1850 census), d. ca. 1862, Waverly Hall, GA
married WOS
Mary Brown, b. ca. 1819 in GA (per 1850 census), d. ca. 1890, Waverly Hall, GA

My husband is related through his daughter Missouri, b. Dec 14, 1840 in GA. She married William Boswell on July 18, 1866 in Talbot Co. They had six children. William Brantley, b. 1867, d. 1870. She is buried without [illegible] to his mother in Waverly Hall; Mary Susan b. 1861, d. 1922 (she is my husband's grandmother). The married Charlie Harris Kind in 1881 and lived in Columbus (in most of her life. She and husband are buried in Columbus); Daniel Evans, b. 1866, d. 1938, lived most of adult life in Atlanta area; Caroline Amanda, b. 1868, d. 1925 (lived most of life in Texas, which is where family moved in 1870 and lived remainder of life there); Francis Marion, b. 1870, d. 1951 in Texas; Fletcher Marion, b. 1872, d. 1950 in Texas.

There were the more Boswell's by sending wife, Rebecca Morgan, who all moved to Texas.

I believe Missouri McCollister Boswell had two brothers, one who was Captain (?) of regiment -the same regiment under which William Boswell served.

I also read that there were two McCollister sisters who lived in Waverly Hall, and taught piano.

Susie Mae (as Mary Susan was known) lived with her McCollister grandparents when her father fought Civil War, and continued to live with them upon his return. She was a teacher, and taught piano to her daughters (my husband's aunts) to play piano.

I think we got the Dempsey "Pat" McCullough from Susie Boswell's bible. Her daughter, who died about four years ago, lived in Valdosta with her twin sister (who died about 8 years ago) and her sister's children. These daughters had her Bible, and now our Valdosta cousins have it.

My husband recalls that his uncle and wife, and his aunt went to the reunion, and they knew of the Boswell cousins (ie Dan's family) in the Atlanta area. His father, Charlie Joe King, had the following brothers and sisters:

Dempsey, b. aug 14, 1892, died Aug 29, 1892

Mary Frances "Sister", b. Jun 5 1894, married Clifford Long, d. May 1970. No children.

William F., b. 1894, married Emma ?, lived in Hamilton GA, worked as engineer at Fort Benning, d. Mar 1973. One dau.

Ruth, b. jan 1898, married Idus Lynn in Cataula, died 1994 in Valdosta. No children.

Ruby b. Jan 1898, married Walter Snellgrove, died 1990 in Valdosta. Had eight children, most in Valdosta now.

Maggie Bert, b. Nov 1899, married J. W. Toney, lived in Doerun, d. 1972. Two daughters, one son deceased.

Charlie Joe, b. Dec 1900, married (1) Billie Smith, one dau., (2) Ruth Hart, one son and one dau. Died 1968.

Dan Gray, b. Jul 1905, married Juanita Miller, one daughter, lived in Pelham/Meigs, died 1969.

Susie and Charlie Harris King lived in Cataula, Ga most of their life, where they farmed. They were married Dec. 16, 1891. They sold farm in 1920's and lived remainder of life with daughter Maggie in Doerun. Charlie Harris King died in 1930 and Susie died in 1935. They are both buried in Cataula, along with their infant son, Dempsey, and Charlie's mother, Louisa Frances Harris King Pressley.

I have your line from the Boswell reunion book, just names but not dates. Of course the last update I have is from 1963.

I have one question. How is it that Daniel Boswell travelled with the family to Texas, went back to Georgia, married Nonnie Rich, went back to Texas, and then apparently ended up back in Georgia? Do you know anything of this sequence of events?

We lived in Atlanta from 1989-1995, and noted in the phone book some of the names from the Boswell reunion update. I believe some of Dan's grandchildren/great grandchildren live in Marietta.

Look forward to hearing from you and will help where I can

I think we got the Dempsey "Hal" McDaniel story from Sharie Doswell's Nikki Her daughter, who died about four years ago, lived in Valdosta with her twin sister (who died about 8 years ago) and her sister's children. These daughters had her Bible, and now our Valdosta cousins have it.

My background records that his uncle and wife, and his aunt went to the reunion, and they knew of the Doswell ancestry (a Davis family) in the Atlanta area. His father, Charlie, the long, had the following brothers and sisters:

Dempsey, b. aug 24, 1890, died Aug 29, 1932

Hal, Frances "Sister", b. Jan 5 1894, married Clifford Long, d. May 1970. No children.

William R., b. 1896, married Emma ?, lived in Hamilton GA, worked as engineer at Fort Benning, d. Mar 1973. One dau.

Kate, b. Jan 1898, married Jack Lynn in Cataula, died 1962 in Valdosta. No children.

Ruby b. Jan 1898, married Walter Snellgrove, died 1990 in Valdosta. Had eight children, most in Valdosta area

Maggie Bell, b. Nov 1900, married J. W. Toney, lived in Doerun d. 1972. Two daughters, one son deceased

Charlie Joe, b. Dec 1900, married (1) Belle Simon, one dau., (2) Ruth Hart, one son and one dau. Died 1958

John Grey, b. Jul 1906, married Jeanne Miller, one daughter, lived in Pulaski/Marion, died 1968.

Susie and Charlie Harris King lived in Cataula, Ga most of their life, where they married. They were married Dec. 16, 1891. They said born in 1892? and had families of six with Sister Maggie in Doerun. Charlie Harris King died in 1930 and Susie died in 1935. They are both buried in Cataula, along with their infant son, Dempsey, and Cowallow mother, Louisa Frances Harris King Crossley.

I have your info from the Doswell reunion book, just names but not dates. Of course the last update I have is from 1993.

I have one question. How is it that Daniel Doswell traveled with the family to Texas, went back to Georgia, married Minnie Rich, went back to Texas, and then apparently ended up back in Georgia? Do you know anything of this sequence of events?

We lived in Atlanta from 1988-1995, and noted in the phone book some of the names from the Doswell reunion notes. I believe some of Dans family follow Vyvian grandchildren live in Marietta.

Look forward to meeting you and will help where I can

I have the Boswell booklet with the family tree/pictures. Actually I have the one from 1956 and 1963, a story that includes how the eldest son died, the trip to Texas, etc.

I am still digging into McCulloh and Brinson. Susie Boswell had an autograph book that her granddaughter in Valdosta now has. Two of the entries were signed "Your cousin, Lula Brinson" and "Your cousin, Corie Brinson", Ousley, Georgia. Ousley is in Brooks county, a few miles west of Valdosta. That's my latest tracer.

I was at the Boswell reunion with the family this weekend. Actually I have lots one from 1969 and 1983, a story that includes how the oldest son died, [illegible] Tacos, etc.

I am still digging into McCullohs and Bakers. Susie Boswell had an autograph book that her grandmother in Valdosta now has. Two of the entries were signed "Your cousin, Lula Baker" and "Your cousin, Cora Burson", Cora Ivy, Georgia. Ousley is in Brooks county, a few miles west of Valdosta. That's my latest lead.

You've struck Gold!!!!! Well, of some sort anyway.

Hi.....My name is Tonya McCullohs and I'm married to Randy McCullohs whose family is from Waverly Hall, Harris Co., Georgia.

Would like to help you piece together some ancestry. There are not that many McCullohs's in the US, that's for sure.

I do know that my husband is Thomas Randolph McCullohs III, so that name goes back 3 generations. Will try to get you further info. Also, may be able to in near future go to Waverly Hall and get you info from cemetary or other records, as I am research the name for my daughter.

You can call me at (678) 393-9863 (Atlanta) if you like or respond by e-mail.

Regards,
Tonya McCullohs

To the Ordinary of said county

The petition of D. N. McCullochs and W. H. McCullochs Executors of D. P. McCullochs deceased showeth that they have fully discharged all the duties of such Executors, that they have paid all the debts of the said D. P. McCullochs so far as the funds or assets of said Estate would allow, in fact have administered and disbursed the whole of said Estate as will appear by reference to their returns and vouchers. They therefore pray that the usual citation may issue requiring all persons interested to show cause, if any they can why they should not be discharged from their Executorship, and while such citation is running their proceeding as such Executors may undergo a thorough revision by the court.

Dear Jeanie:

From the Russell Co. VA Court Proceedings for 16 Nov 1816 you will find that 'Jacob King and his wife Mary, formerly wife of Eli McLaughlin, deceased'. The above was sent to me by a Flanagan researcher in Wythe Co., VA. In it, in order to settle this property of Eli's, it lists the children with their spouses!! This is always such a help when the girls marry and you don't know to whom.

From the above document, I found this list of children of Eli and Mary;

1. Israel Cornelius b c 1802 m Elizabeth Dougherty in Scott Co. the 18 Sep 1823. (marriage dates from records of Scott Co., VA)
2. Anne b 2 June 1804 m Joseph Kinser, Scott Co., VA 1819
3. Mary b c 1806 m James Allen, Scott Co., VA 7 May 1830
4. Elizabeth b c 1815 m Philip Flanagan
5. Matilda b c 1815 m William Lambert, Scott Co., 12 July 1830
6. Joseph
7. William

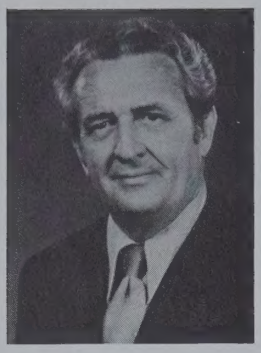
Scott Co., VA was formed from Russell Co, Lee and Washington Cos. In 1814.

The Court Records of Russell Co., on page 350 show that a John Elliott murdered Eli McLaughlin 7 Nov 1816

I have another contact that comes from Israel McLaughlin. He lists his lineage this way:

1. Israel m Elizabeth Dougherty 18 Sep 1823
2. Nathan m Ester Fugate c 1855
3. Israel m Tibiatha Smith 28 mar 1881
4. Nathan m Pearl McAvoy 6 Jan 1907, (his parents).

I just received an e-mail from another 'cuzen'. Most of this I knew but every little new piece of info sure helps sometimes. She saw the 2nd m of old Philip to Ellen Dunn (some have misread the writing as Davis) in



Dan B. Jordan For City Councilman

"A Man Who Loves Houston"

Political advertisement paid for by Dan B. Jordan, 3418 W. Dallas, Houston, Texas

Hawkins Co., TN on 19 Feb 1867. She found in the 1860 census of Hawkins Co., TN Ellen age 20 living with Ephraim and Bettie, apparently her parents. In 1870, we have all found Philip, with daughters Mary and Martha and Emeline Coley. (No one can fit Emeline into a family yet, but since my William W. 1st b of Philip and Elizabeth m Amanda Jane Coley, there is some connection).

This correspondant also found in 1870 Ephraim and Elizabeth Dunn and living with them is Ellen FELANEGAN (how is that for butchering?) age 32 and Margaret FELANEGAN age 3. So, it appears (no proof) that Elizabeth Flanagan, wife / Philip died before 1867. Philip and Ellen were not living together in 1870. Ellen and a Francis Stark were m in Hawkins Co., TN 8 Mar 1882.

Now the question arises, were they divorced (no record) or did old Philip just get m in Anderson Co., TN to Parthena and commit bigamy or ???
He and Parthena Hunter were m in 12 Jan 1879 and in 1880 they are listed with two children surname of Hunter, William 12 yrs and Lorry (f) 9 yrs.
I later found a m for a Parthena Flinnagan for another man so I'm guessing that Philip died c 1890 in TN.

Hope this fills in the gaps a little. Keep in touch. Vivian Jordan

Let me hear from you when you can.

Most Sincerely,

Dear Rowanda:

This World is really getting smaller and smaller. The last paragraph of your letter sent me immediately to my 1942 El Orosso Year Book. I, too am a graduate of Old San Jacinto Hight Shhhoo in Houston. I knew a Mildred McCullough, is she a sister or are you much younger?? My folks had a ranch out on Parkington Prairie outside of Cleveland, TX for many years. Had a nice trip down memory lane when I went through that Year Book, looking for your name.

Back to genealogy. The ladies that independently gave me your name as a McCullough researcher were Rautalee McCullough Guthrie and Jane M. Phillips. I'm so grateful th them both!

Now to give you some information on my McCullohs. I have postulated that Dempse P. came into GA c 1836-7 because his first child (that I know of) was b c1837 and Dempse's wife Mary Brinson is b in GA. The Indexes to Census do not show a McCullohs/etc in Talbot, Harris, Troup or Muscogee Cos., GA in 1830. 'Course they missed a lot of people.

1840 Census show: p217, D. P. Mculler Talbot Co.,GA with two boys under 10; a woman between 20-30 28

1840 Harris Co., GA has only McCalla...H. and J. and Grizza and R. (nothing but initials!!) Grizza is a female between 70-80; R is 40-50; J is 30-40; and H has 2 males 20-30

1850 Talbot Co., GA has Dempsey P. McCullor b SC with Mary and children Daniell 13, b GA William 10 b GA and Missouri 9 also enumerated 53 families away is a James I. Tooke, 39 tavern keeper with wife and 7 children and a William McCullough 50 b Scot.

1860 Harris Co., GA is very worn and scratched at Clayton Lib. and I was lucky to find Dempsey P. with Mary and Daniel N. and William H. William Boswell and Missouri McCullohs m in 1856 She d 1874,GA

This world is really getting smaller and smaller. The last paragraph of your letter sent me immediately to my 1942 Al Crosson Year Book. I, too, have ancestors of Bill Sam Darling Alpha Gamma Rho Houston. I knew Al Mitchell National, Sports Writer or was you much younger? My folks had a ranch out on Pendleton Prairie outside of Cleveland, TX for many years. Had a nice little down [illegible] that through that Your Book. Looking for your name.

Back to genealogy. The ladies that independently gave me your name as a McCullough ancestral were Matilda McCullough Carmichael and Jane M. Whitlock. I'm [illegible] the [illegible]!

You to give you some information on my McCullochs. I have identified two Thomas T. came into GA c.1838-47 because his first child (Hilliard T. Jr.) was b 6/1837 and Thomas' wife Mary Patterson is b in GA. The Thomas to Geneva Co. was also a McCulloch/Jane in Talbot, Harris, Upson or Muscogee Cos., GA in 1830. Unless they raised a lot of people.

1840 Geneva shows: p217, D. P. McCullar Talbot Co., GA with two boys under 10, a woman between 20-30 p197, John McCullough 20-30; f m 4-30; 1 f 5-10; 1 f 1-4; 1 13-20 [illegible] p194, Samuel McCullough 60-70; 1 m 5-10; 2 f 10-15; 1 f 40-50

(A Harden and his two sons???)

1840 Upson Co., GA shows: Daniel B. McCullough 30-40; 2 m 5-10; 1 15-20; 1 20-30 and 1 -5; 1 [illegible] 30 slaves

1840 Harris Co., GA has only William...B. and I. and Cintha and R. (Cintha has a female between 70-80; 2 is 40-50; 1 is 30-40; and 1 male 2 males 20-30

1850 Talbot Co., GA has Demsey P. McCullough b?32 with Mary and children Samuel 12, b GA William 10 b GA and Mumford 8

Also enumerated GA Sheldon Gray is a Jesse I. Jones, 70 farmer keeper with wife and 7 children and a William McCullough 50 b Scot.

1860 Harris Co., GA is very busy and scattered as Clayton Lilly and I was lucky to find Demsey P. with Mary and Daniel M. modifications.
William Powell and Mumford McCullochs in the 1860 Ga 1870 Census.

1870 Harris Co., GA shows William with wife Martha and then William I. Jr.
Susan Mary, Daniel Thomas, Cornelius Amanda. Then other as Hyde.

I know that her first child was named William T. Demsey then the children Martha, then Francis Paul and Lucrecia Hodgkins.

Just wish that I knew what all the initials stood for, but I don't.

In 1880 Harris Co., GA William has a Martha, Thomas, Francis, Lucrecia, and Mrs Martha.
Daniel shows a son Demsey I.

I sure hope that you can connect with something that you have.

Let me hear from you when you can.

Most Sincerely,

Dear Vivian:

Sorry to be so long in a reply regarding your Dempsey McCulloch. I have many McCs in my files and have been keeping an eye out for your Dempsey. The spelling used by your family indicates that he may descend from Isaac McCulloh, who went from Augusta Co, Va to Lancaster Co, SC (A brother possibly went to Chester Co, SC).

Henry McCulloh, who had over 2,000,000 acres (about 1/2 the present state of NC) made an agreement with King George ca 1738 to bring no less than 10,000 settlers into that Colony in exchange for the grant. Many of the earliest McCulloh's (some used McCulloch and others McCullough) were related and General Benjamin McCulloch (for whom McCulloch Co., Texas is named) of Texas was a direct descendent.

The William McCulloch of Union Co, SC (d 1815 Union Co) had a large family - many of whom began using the spelling "McCullough" in later years. He had a brother James, who died childless in 1823 in Union Co., was a Capt. in Rev. War (SC Militia) and War of 1812 (SC Militia). They also had a brother John, of whom I know little. John and his wife Agnes "disappear" from Union Co. ca 1837, after selling land there.

Isaac McCulloh (w/ Margaret Roberson) had two grandsons who went to Franklin Co, Ala.

I note that Talbot Co. adjoins Harris Co, Ga and is not far from Chambers Co, Ala. McCulloh, Ala. is not far away. The McCulloh's there and in Randolph Co (adj.) appear to be from two different families. (1) From John and Nancy (Butts)

McCulloch and (2) from William McCallough, who is said to have gone there from Anderson Co, SC. I have quite a lot on both of these families, if you feel that one of them is yours.

It would help me a great deal to know names of your Dempsey's children's children to see if I can see a naming pattern to "fit." Daniel is a given name that the Fairfield Co. McCs used, for instance. Also, middle names may help, particularly if they were surnames. Do you know what the "N" in Daniel's name was for, or the "P" in Dempsey "David" is a common McC given name (much more so than Daniel), but was not used by the Union Co. family, to my knowledge.

I have 4 file cabinets of McCulloughs (all sp) in Colonies and S.E. (mostly SC, though other states as well). I feel sure that we can fit your Dempsey McC into the right family relatively easily.

One thing is almost certain, and that is that almost all of the SC McCs (all sp except McCully and McCalla) go back to "James of Brogan", who was son of William, son of James, etc, etc. James of Brogan (this was probably Parish Creggan, Co Armagh, Ireland) was the last Laird of Myerton in Scotland. Many of the line were also in Cos. Antrim and Down, as well as Louth and Derry (Londonderry).

I'm a native Texan. Moved here from Cleveland, Texas, where I was in business for years. Grew up in Houston. Graduated from San Jacinto High School there. Lived near McGregor Park and Voigt. Lived in Anahuac, Tex (Chambers Co. for many years after I married; also Lake Jackson for about 16 years. I love it here but my heart is forever in Texas!

Good luck,

Rowanda

P.S. Have given names Bryant, Anthony or Leonard been used in your family? McCulloch, Ala. was named for Bryant McCulloch.

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Your name has come up in two different letters that I have received this week...both ladies recommending that I contact you.

I have been working on our family lines for years, but one that has been a puzzlement, so of course it intrigues me!!, is my husbands' McCullohs line. I haven't worked extensively on it, but I always keep my eye out for the name.

Dempse(y) P. McCullohs was b ca 1815 in SC (census), m in 1836 to Mary Brinson b ca 1820 in GA. They had three children, Daniel N. b 1837 in GA.; William b 1839 in GA.; and my line, Missouri Frances b 1840 GA., she m William Boswell in Waverly Hall,Harris, GA 1856 and she is buried in Waverly Hall. William Boswell came to TX with his children and 2nd wife.

I've picked up a 'D.P. McCuller in Talbot Co.,GA in 1840 with 1 son the right age for my Dempsey's 1st child.

The Census Indexes for S.C. have made me sort of lean toward the counties of the Old 96th Dist. There is a William in Union Co.,SC... so I'm stumped. Also in Union Co.1790 is a Michael Dempsey several pages from William MCullahs which might or might not mean something.

Just wish I could find someone that is working on this branch. Any help or suggestions you could offer would really be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Smith:

Your name has come up in two different letters that I have received this week...both ladies recommended that I contact you.

I have been writing on our family lines for years, but one thing has been a problem, so of course it involves men! As my husband's ancestors line, I haven't worked extensively on it, but I always keep an eye out for the name.

Hence (w) Pittsburgh was b. ca 1815 in SC (census), m. in 1838 to Mary Watson b. ca 1820 in GA. They had three children, Daniel W. b. 1837 in GA.; William b. 1839 in GA.; and my line, Missouri Frances b. 1840 GA., who married Roswell H. Harris, PA 1858 and thus is buried in Waverly Hill. William Roswell came to TX with his mother and brothers.

They placed on a U.S. Marshal in Talbot Co., GA in 1860 in the 1st district and on a company's 1st child.

The census indexes for S.C. have made me sort of lean toward the country of the old South Side. There is a William in Union Co., so I'm stumped. Also in Va. in 1820 is a Michael Pemberton...

Have you from William McCullough with which or mine not wasn't somewhere.

Just wish I could find someone that is working on this branch. Any help or suggestions you could offer would really be appreciated.

Dear Vivian Jordan,

I have not seen a Dempsa McCulloh, esp. the Dempse in my research.

However, I've ordered much material since we came home in March - and who knows when a name will appear ☺

I called a lady with whom I correspond, also talked with her this past week. She thinks your lineage maybe in Fairfield County. She is very knowledgeable in Genealogy and has many records.

My suggestion would be to send information to her. Mrs Rowanda McCullough Smith

Dear Mrs. Jordan:

I wish I could be of some help to you. At this time I can only say I'll be on the look-out for your Dempse McCulloh as I work. I've been looking over such notes as I have and don't find this name. Dempsey, with various spellings, is found as both surname and given name in both Carolinas. If you can find Dempseys in association with McCullohs, it may be a clue. Probably you've worked in that direction already.

Is Rowanda McCullough Smith the friend? She has been of help to me recently - I hadn't been able to get any sort of break on my McCullough/McCollough line. My 3rd great-grandmother was, or so it appears, Martha (Carson) McCullough of York Co., S.C.

It is amazing what people working together can accomplish. I do wish you success.

Sincerely,

Jane

Probably you've worked in the direction already.

In Scotland, although both the Goulins and the Dempseys have had to go recently - I know! I have only a few why sort of break in my work/counting lines. My last out-of-country was, once, it appears, Berlin (Germany) through of York Co., S.C.

It is always work people working together can accomplish. I do wish you success.

A friend has given me your address as she knew that my husband has a McCullohs line. 'Course I look at all the spellings.

In your research of your McCulloughs perhaps you have run across the name of Dempse McCullohs ?? If so, he must be mine, for I've yet to find him in South or North Carolina where he says he was born.(rather on the census he said he was born in SC but the family lore is just 'the Carolinas').

Dempse P. McCullohs was born ca 1815 SC m Mary Brinson ca 1836. He named his children Daniel,nWilliam, Missouri - all born in GA.

Would appreciate any help or suggestions. I enclose a SASE.

Dear Mrs. Jordan,

Apologies for the delay in replying to your letter. It arrived while I was in the hospital and promptly became buried on my desk.

I am expecting company to arrive today and have been trying to clear my desk and some of the counters in my office and see that I made no notation that I had replied.

I have absolutely no information on the McCulloh line after the birth of my ancestor Mary. I've not had the inclination to collect the descendants of her brothers and sisters.

James McCulloh, (will dated 27 July 1812, Rowan) mentions the following heirs:

wife: None mentioned sons: Samuel
John
daus: Sarah (wife of Nathaniel Johnston)
Mary, (wife of Rev. Dr. John Brown)
Jane, (wife of Benjamin Smith
Ruth
Elizabeth
Ann

I've not pursued the descendants as I wanted to get info on the parents as my first endeavor. I hope to be able to work on that some now that many things are behind me (my dau. had her last baby) I've had my hospital stay and completed my term as Organizing Regent of a new DAR Chapter). I will keep you name in my files and should I encounter that name as I research in Georgia (on many other lines) I will keep my eyes open. Of course, I really envy you your close proximity to the Clayton Library. San Antonio has such a meager, poorly organized section for genealogy!

Good luck.

This is the first chance that I've had to get a letter off to you. Thanks for the Ritch/Rich information. I'm finally convinced that David is the Father of my Emanuel. Keep that David Ritch in mind ...you may stumble over something on him some day.

Now, I would like for you to see about the McCulloh side of the family. This will be researching in Harris Co.-around Waverly Hall. Can't find in my correspondence file that I've sent you the Boswell/McCulloh line....but I think that I have! Just in case....

I've found Dempse/McCullohs from 1880 on to 1850 when he has one son under 10 in Talbot Co.
I have Dempsey's will and settlement of estate.
Some time ago you mentioned this woman whose father was Randolph McCullohs and grandfather was Dempsey McCullohs.

Quite some time ago, when I was in the Fed. Ardh. Branch in Fort Worth, I found this that she might be interested in having. I'll give you the E.D. and etc. if she would like a actual copy of the census she couldorder it from your Arch. in East Point.

All of these, as I believe you know, are buried in that ce-etery where Dempse is buried. (I remember the name!!)

I've never been able to find when or where Mary Brinson McCullohs died...si so keep her in mind when you are looking for Dempse.

Could I limit you to $10. again? See how far that will take you.

Must get back to work.

BAPTIST CHURCH

On November 19, 1893, a Baptist Church was established. The meetings were held on Prichard Hill in the old Pritchard Hill schoolhouse, with the Rev J. W. Cline serving as the first preacher.

Charter Members

There were sixteen charter members, namely: Dr. B. B. Jamerson, Mrs. Ida Jamerson, N. T. Baugh, W. G. Slaughter, W. J. Slaughter, T. J. Amos, J. M. Lucas, Mrs. Cora Storey, Mrs. Emma Althisar, Mrs. Isabell McCullohs, Mrs. Mary E. Livingstone, Mrs. Emma Bickley, J. H. Cline, M. B. Cline, Miss Bessie Cline, and Martha Lucas. Succeeding the Rev. Cline was the Rev. J. F. Edens preaching the dedication sermon September 14, 1896. Mrs. L. W. Slaughter has served as Sexton of the church since its organization. Until 1925, both Saturday and Sunday meetings were held. In 1927, Mr. A. C. Alexander built the present Sunday School rooms and remodeled the church in general. The four Moultrie girls, Maidie, Verda, Annie, and Lillian presided at the church consecutively for more than fifteen years.

Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration

An inspiring celebration was held October 10, 1943, on the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of this Baptist church. Speakers included the Rev. J. J. Sizemore, then minister of the church; the Rev. Billy Story, rising young minister from Waverly Hall; and the Rev. Joe F. Barton.

EARLY SCHOOLS

Foster Institute

Civic-minded settlers recognized the need for educated and cultured populace. When the community was very young, the Foster Institution was founded to teach the essentials of education as they were interpreted in that day. Since co-education was not practiced on the sight of the present Foster home there were two buildings, one for the girls and the other for boys. Mr. William Foster t aught the boys; Mrs. Virginia Foster, better known as "Aunt Jennie," instructed the girls. The famous James G. Calhoun taught in this school, attracting boarding students from Georgia and Alabama. (See Foster Family data.)

PRITCHARD HILL SCHOOL

About 1880, another institution of learning was founded at Pritchard Hill with Miss Ella Huff serving as the first teacher. She was succeeded by two male teachers, Mr. King and Mr. B. K. Scott.

NANNIE SCHLEY INSTITUTE

In 1888, still another school was built on the site about where Mr. Hugh McGehee's house now stands. A Mr. Cox was the first instructor there. Because of its central location, the other two schools were discontinued. The presence of these schools was a factor in attracting new residents to this village, and it was not long before pupils had exceeded the accommodations of the first, we might say, "consolidated school," and a larger building was needed. Mrs. Nannie Pitts Schley was aware of this fact, and she donated a considerable amount for this new building. Upon the completion in 1907, the school was called the Nannie Schley Institute to commemorate her large gift. Miss Ludie Lucas, a well known and beloved teacher who served this community for more than twenty-five years, started her career in this school in 1910. Dr. I. S. Ingram, now president of West Georgia College, was on the faculty of this school during the years 1913-1918.

BUSINESSES

Six Gins

Since agriculture was the main business of this section, and cotton was King until 1916, business men of Waverly Hall established six gin houses here. The first of these establishments stood on the present site of Mrs. Ernie Smith's house and the McCulloh's gin was on the Hamilton Road in front of what is known as the Old Bickley House. The McCulloh's gin was the longest in operation, having its inception a good many years before the Civil War and operation until about 1900. Two others were Byrd Brothers gin on the Columbus Road, and the Pitts and McCullohs gin once located near the Frizzel residence, later moved to location of Southern Railroad depot.

Potato Houses

When the cotton was no longer a booming asset, but rather a liability, the business men erected two potato houses for curing. Two potato industries, the Ingram and the Waverly Hall Potato House, Inc., secured the co-operation of the farmers in planting sweet potatoes as a money crop. This industry continues to be a boom not only to the farmers but also to the community at large.

PITTS MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENT

Waverly Hall has the distinction of possessing the oldest mercantile establishment in Harris County and in this section of the state. It was first known as I. H. Pitts and Sons and was established in 1869. Its original location was on the site of Livingston McCulloh's house. But in the spring of 1886, it was moved to a spot now occupied by the community house. In 1902, the establishment was once again moved, this time to the large brick building in its present location and is now called the Home Trading Company. Through all these years it had been owned by the same pioneering family.

WAR DAYS

Outstanding characteristic of the citizenry of Waverly Hall is patriotism. As far back as the Seminole War, we have evidence of the bravery and fortitude of forefathers. General Henry Lowe, who was also prominent in the affairs of the community, county, and state, added to his prestige in quelling this insurrection. "Like-father-like-son," might be applied to Henry L. Lowe who served in the Mexican War and brought honor to this district.

The Civil War was a trying time for the residents of Waverly Hall. Many young men rode away to combat. The town itself suffered ravages of the victorious Northern Army. Led by General Wilson, who was attached to Sherman's Army, Northern troops came through Waverly Hall from Columbus during the late summer of 1864. This army left in its wake ravaged fields, burning homes, and populace of women, children, and old men who were homeless and penniless. At this time there was one store and a post office which comprised the business district for the extensive farming section. Both of these buildings were destroyed. It is interesting to note that the "foxhole" is not original, at least as far as Waverly Hall is concerned. During the time of the pillaging, Mr. A. C. Byrd and Mr. Henry Byrd were boys of about ten and twelve years of age. Their grandmother had a hole dug in a fence corner, camouflaged it, and hid both the boys in it for four or five days while the enemy was at hand. There was much looting of personal property by the invading hordes in spite of the efforts that citizens made to conceal their valuables. At least one Yankee soldier was killed and buried near the present St. John's colored cemetery.

Ingenuity and daring were shown in the manner in which one plantation owner saved approximately a hundred bales of cotton. Torches were lit and were about to be applied when the planter yelled scornfully, "Damn you, burn it!" Perversity of human nature prevailed, and about $12,000 worth of cotton was saved.

Another shipment of eight bales of cotton which belonged to I. H. Pitts miraculously escaped burning. It was later insured and shipped via Pensacola for Liver-Nancy Thomas Saunders b. 11-23-1942. Gerald Benjamin Saunders b. 1-31-1946. Richard Vaden Saunders b. 1-9-1949.

Gerald Benjamin Saunders began business as a bookkeeper for the Alexander Lumber Company, of Ellerslie, Ga., July 1918. The Lumber Company moved to Cataula in 1923. He was made president of the company in 1939. He was a Representative from Harris County in 1935; State Senate, 1949-1950; Director of the M. & M. Bank. He is a Baptist.[542]

ALEXANDER BROTHERS LUMBER COMPANY

In 1918, the Alexander Brothers Lumber Company was established, not only bringing increased payroll but also adding to the population. A planer mill was located close to the railroad and remained in operation from 1918 until 1932. In 1932, a plant was established in Cataula, Ga., becoming the largest producers of one-inch lumber in the United States. The Alexander-Sinclair Lumber Company was an outgrowth of the expanding industry, and from 1923 until 1930, maintained a sawmill and planer in Box Springs, Ga. After the death of Jacob Franklin Alexander in 1925, Abel Cidney Alexander operated the Alexander Brothers Company alone until 1914, when Gerald B. Saunders became a partner with half interest in the business. Several years before his death, A. C. Alexander retired from active participation in this Company. The main office of the organization, was moved to Bealwood, a suburb of Columbus, Georgia. Lumber continues to be a source of revenue for various members of the Community engaged in the logging business, and the increasing demand for lumber for pulpwood has promoted continued employment.

MISS FANNIE MAE McCULLOHS

Miss Fannie Mae (Mamie) McCullohs was born in Waverly Hall (d. April 26-1960, age 85 yrs.), Harris County, and has lived all her life with her sister, Miss Nettie McCullohs, who was a paper carrier, walking each day to deliver papers with her brothr, Irby McCullohs, to their subscribers.

Miss Fannie Mae (Mamie) graduated from the Harris County schools. Later she studied music at Chase's Conservatory in Columbus, Ga. She has taught music in Waverly Hall and surrounding areas since she was seventeen. She was pianist for the Waverly Hall Methodist Church for sixty-five years. A special recognition service was held at the church for her.

In 1930, during the depression, she taught hand-work under the supervision of the W. P. A. She taught at Baker Village, Columbus Manufacturing Co., the Peabody Apartments, and the Christian Fellowship Association. All of these places

M. Wynne. It was given by the venerable Ezekiel Smith and brought from Macon by a wagon team under the supervision of Irban Leonard. Within recent years it has been replaced by a set of chimes which can be heard over most of the town. Across the back of the church there is a balcony in which the slaves sat. The present parsonage was built in 1898.

The church is proud of the fact that for 140 years it has been a separate charge. Quarterly conference records dating of 1885 show 274 members, 305 in 1889 and 235 in 1949.

The Talbotton Church entertained the South Georgia Conference on December 17, 1877. Bishop Pierce was the presiding Bishop, A. M. Wynne, presiding Elder of the Columbus District and Rev. E. F. Breedlove the pastor.

Over 70 pastors have served Talbotton Methodist Church. Their names are as follows:

J. W. Starr, E. Bennett, W. D. Mathews, Charles A. Brown, Tilman Douglas, Willis D. Matthews, W. D. Martin, W. W. Robinson, Ivey F. Steagall, Miller H. White, Reuben H. True to the custom of most old churches, annual homecomings were held until recent years. A vivid description of one of these homecomings has been given to us by Mr. W. C. Woodall, a Talbot County native, as he wrote in the Columbus Ledger in 1924: "Reference has already been made in the columns of this paper to a recent Home Coming at the Methodist Church at Talbotton where sons and daughters of the old church and the good old county of Talbot assembled to meet and mingle once more with their friends and relatives and associates of the Long Ago. It was the last time on earth that many then present will attend such a general reunion of Talbotton and Talbot folk, for such occasions come only once or twice in a life time, and, many who were gathered there on that golden October Sunday are well along the evening lanes of life, walking in the softened, chastened, infinitely beautiful glow of a sun that itself seeks the rest that lies beyond the horizon."

Plaister(s), who was living in Henry County, Va., in 1782. Thomas, son of Michael and Charity Plaister, married in Franklin County, Va., May 19, 1791, Mary, daughter of Anne Carter, and various marriages and deeds are then found in Franklin and not far away in Montgomery County, Va., c1795-1820, and later in Franklin County. Michael was the only one of the name found in 1782 Virginia tax lists. The family (of German origin) probably came from Pennsylvania, where Conrad Plasster was enumerated in Lancaster County--a name found shortly afterward in Virginia.

ANCESTOR'S SERVICES

My ancestor's services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution were as follows:

Captain David McCullough rendered valuable service for his country during the Revolution. He sailed out of the Port of Philadelphia commanding his ship, know as the Rattlesnake. Said ship carried 20 guns (or cannons) and he sailed under a commission of the Congree of the U.S.A. The account of his and his families activities are found printed in April 10, 1840 copy of "Georgia Journal" printed at Milledgeville, Ga. The above Journal also states that in 1839 Mrs. Phoebe McCullough Pollard, Widow of Captain William Pollard and a duaghter of Capt. David McCullough resided in Savannah, Georgia, with six daughters.

The original copy of above Journal is owned and in the possession of National No. 76953. She is a chater member of the Lone Star Chapter of Texarkana, Texas and resides at 621 Main Street, Texarkana, Texas

The said Captain David McCullough is the ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence, while acting in the capacity of Captain of Ship called "The Rattlesnake"

The said John McCulloh is the ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence, while acting in the capacity of Private

* Wife in every instance in this paper means legal and lawful wife.

Date of marriage may be substituted for dates of birth and death where such date proves the soldier to have been living during the Revolution and of a suitable age for service.
Resolution adopted by the Twenty-fourth Continental Congress:
Descendants of polygamous marriage are not acceptable as members of this Society.

Do not encroach on this margin, which is needed for binding.

Any woman is eligible for membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution who is not less than eighteen years of age, and who is descended from a man or woman who, with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American Independence, served as a sailor, or as a soldier or civil officer in one of the several Colonies or States, or in the United Colonies or States, or as a recognized patriot, or rendered material aid thereto; provided the applicant is personally acceptable to the Society.

Official proof of service must be furnished with the application; also references to authorities quoted, to show line of descent. Where reference is made to unpublished or inaccessible records, the applicant must file duplicate certified copies of same.

ANCESTOR'S SERVICES

My ancestor's services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution were as follows:

John McCulloh was born in Ireland and when a young man came to Savannah, Ga. where he was living during the Revolution. He was teaching school in Savannah in 1780 according to family letters. He married in 1783 and went to merchandizing.

John McCulloh(various spellings) is on the certified List, Georgia Troops on P 386 Knight's Georgia Roster of the Revolution.

After the Revolution he moved to Hancock Co. Ga. where he died in 1812. His wife Nancy Butt McCulloh moved to Early County Georgia with her eldest son Anthony, where she died.

Do not encroach on this margin, which is needed for binding.

GEORGIA LAWS 1825 page 119.

AN ACT

Amendatory of an act passed the ninth June, eighteen hundred and twenty-five to dispose of and distribute the lands lately acquired by the United States for the use of Georgia, of the Creek nation of Indians by a treaty [made] and concluded at the Indian Springs on the twelfth day of February, eighteen hundred and twenty-five.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the words "Immediately preceding the passage of this act" in the act passed the ninth day of June, eighteen hundred and twenty-five, be and the same are hereby repealed, and the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six be adopted in lieu thereof.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be the duty of the justices of the inferior court of the respective counties of this state, or majority of the same to cause the above section to be carried into effect.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the persons appointed by the inferior courts to carry into effect the provisions of this amendatory act, shall insert in the oaths laid down in the before recited act, the words the first day of September, eighteen hundred and twenty-six, instead of the words "the passing of this act" wherever the latter occurs.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all men of like residence who have been wounded and disabled in the late wars with Great Britain or the Indians, shall be entitled to one additional draw other than they are allowed by the provisions of the before recited act, in consequence of said wound and disability and the persons appointed to carry this act into effect shall administer the following oath to said persons, to wit: I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I was wounded in the late wars with Great Britain and the Indians, by which wound I am disabled—instead of the oath prescribed in said section.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, That all illegitimate children shall be considered and placed on the same footing with orphan children under the provisions of this act, and shall be entitled to a draw or draws in like manner.

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to interfere with the rights of persons who have given in their names for chances in the contemplated land lottery, and that so much of the before recited act as militates against this act, be and the same hereby repealed.

DUNCAN G. CAMPBELL,
Speaker pro. tem. of the House of Representatives.
ALLEN B. OWELL,
President of the Senate.

Assented to, Dec. 24, 1825.
G. M. TROUP, Governor.

— McCULLOH —

McCULLOH—(ANDERSON—NORRIS—KNOTT)

NORRIS—Alice Norris, now Mrs. Francis J. Parran, 144 West Lanvale St., Balto., Md.

Registrants—Under the Dignity of Ancient Scotch Lineage—A Clan.

Through the right of descent—from Hugh McCulloh. Eleanor, his dau—m—Col Alexander Anderson, whose son, Col. Theodore Anderson, m—Adeline M. Knott, and had Theodora, m—J. Norris, had dau—Alice Norris.

The Scotch clan of the McCullochs, in Strathclyde, on Galloway, which Walter Scott says was one of the oldest and most powerful of clans. (See his history of Scotland, also the notes to "Peveril of the Peak"). They were Picts (pictones) and the colors of their tartan are the same as those of the Stewart plaid, different only in proportion and arrangement of the stripes. A gayer plaid than the Stewart, which is too sombre. The royal Stewart plaid is, however, probably the most gay of them all.

Picts—A Keltic race from Eastern Scotland from the Forth to Pentland Firth (A. D. 296-844); they called themselves Cruithue, but were called Picti, Pictones, Pictores or Piccarding (in the Irish Chronicles and by the Romans) because of the habit of painting their bodies. In A. D. 884 the Picts united with the Scots under Kenneth MacAlpin to form one nation. Among them the clan of McCulloh.

The McCulloch's of Philadelphia and Baltimore are: Robert McCulloch, came from north of Ireland (his sons were John, William and James; his dau—was Isabella); John (son of Robert) m—Eliz. ish in Philadelphia, and accompanied the Royal Army to New York. Captured in the privateer Impertinent. In 1779 in jail, and to be tried.

McClatchey, ———. I suppose of Georgia. In 1793 he lived in Florida, and was largely concerned in the Indian trade, under permission of the Spanish Government to import goods directly from England.

McComb, ———. He commanded a company in the battle of Bennington, in 1777, and was there killed.

McCormick, William. Of North Carolina. Went to England. In July, 1779, he was in London, and presented an Address to the king. His property was confiscated.

McCrea, or Cra, Alexander. Of North Carolina. Captain in the Loyal Militia. Taken prisoner in the battle at Cross Creek, 1776. Confined in Halifax Jail; sent, finally, to Maryland.

McCulloh, Henry. Of North Carolina. He obtained a patent for 1,200,000 acres of land in that Colony for himself and his associates; and, though a man of fortune, became greatly embarrassed by his endeavors to induce emigration from Ireland for the settlement of this vast domain. He held the offices of Secretary of North Carolina, of Surveyor, Inspector and Comptroller of the Revenue, and of Commissioner of Crown Lands. He died in England, "at a great age," in 1779, or the previous year. His name appears in the Confiscation Act, though, as will be seen presently, his estate had been conveyed to his son.

McCulloh, Henry Eustace. Of North Carolina. Son of Henry McCulloh. He was educated to the law in London. About the year 1761 he emigrated to North Carolina, where, at first merely the agent of his father, he became a member of the Council, Collector of the Customs for the port of Roanoke, and Representative of the Colony in England. At the Revolutionary era, he was the sole surviving child, and obtained from his father a conveyance of all the property in North Carolina; and such was his tact and address, in adjusting his father's accounts with the Crown, that he acquired "64,400 well selected acres, without the payment of a single dollar." In 1774, the Whigs dismissed him as Colonial Agent; and in 1779 his estate was confiscated. In 1784 he applied to the Legislature to annul the act of confiscation, but without success. Distinguished Whigs advocated his cause with zeal, only to lessen their own influence and popularity. He petitioned again the next year; but, instead of relief, an Act was passed for the immediate sale of the whole of the forfeited property. Tidings of the state of feeling reached him at London, in May, 1785, when he wrote:—

"In case of the idea of an Act of Banishment being carried into execution, I beg my friends will not make an effort to take my name out of it, . . . I should wish it in; as things are, I consider myself, as it relates to North Carolina, as a person, naturally as well as politically, dead; and after all, my heart feels an additional pang when it reflects that, to the rest of my most unmerited and severe usage, I am obliged to add the painful thought that I shall now,—probably never,—see persons both most near and dear to me." In 1788 he said, in a letter: "America may, must, and will, from day to day, rue her separation from England. Did North Carolina deserve anything at my hands, connected as I am here, I might do her great service." He adds: "Apply to the State for the debt they owe me as their Agent. For shame sake they will not refuse payment."

At the date last mentioned, he was agent of the North Carolina Loyalists for prosecuting their claims for losses. He himself was a claimant; and though he received a considerable sum, he was dissatisfied. His integrity may well be questioned, since, in his capacity of Councillor, he sold his vote, in favor of the Tuscarora grant of lands, to Williams, Pugh, and Jones, for one thousand acres of land. The fact that he was thus bribed seems to have been notorious. Mr. Alexander Elmsley, a gentleman who filled an official station of responsibility while in London, wrote to a friend in North Carolina thus: "Mr. McCulloh has often been talking to me of buying the one thousand acres of land he got for his vote in Council from Pugh and Williams. I have never listened to him," &c.

James Iredell, who, after the organization of the Federal Government, was a Judge of the Supreme Court, was his kinsman, and rendered him much valuable service, for which he was never requited. Indeed, the Judge, by the account of McRäe, his biographer, was treated with marked ingratitude. McCulloh was "a man of more than ordinary ability and culture," but cunning rather than wise; of "loose morals," yet, possessed of "a decent regard for appearances, he veiled his vices from the public eye." He cruelly neglected his "illegitimate son George, who, an amiable young man, received an excellent education in England." Though reduced in fortune, McCulloh still had an annual income of twelve hundred guineas, after the adjustment of his claim with the British Government, which, as he lived retired, was a competence. He died at his country seat, near London.

McCulloh, Alexander. Of North Carolina. A member of the Council. He advised Governor Martin to issue a proclamation against the Whig Convention appointed to meet at Newbern, April 3d, 1775, to elect delegates to the Continental Congress.

McCulloh, Charles. Of Georgia. Attainted, and estate confiscated.

McCulloh, Robert. Appointed Collector of the Customs in 1779, when an effort was made to reëstablish the Royal Government. A Loyalist, named Robert McCulloch, was an Associator at New York, in 1782, to settle at Shelburne, Nova Scotia; probably the same.

McDonald, Alexander. Major in the regiment of North Carolina Highlanders. He was taken prisoner in the battle of Cross Creek, 1776, confined in jail, but ordered finally to Philadelphia. His wife was the celebrated Flora McDonald, who was so true, so devoted to the unfortunate Prince Charles Edward, the last Stuart who sought the throne of England. The story is familiar to all, and I will not repeat it. Suffice it to say that Flora and her husband emigrated to North Car-

Three generations of the McCulloh family were deeply involved in the early history of North Carolina, colonial and state. They were Henry McCulloh, son Henry Eustace McCulloh, and grandson George McCulloh. Henry, an Ulster Scot merchant in London, influenced the location for settlement of large numbers of the pioneers. For instance, in present Guilford County, all of the first Germans settled on McCulloh lands, and none of the Quakers.

Henry McCulloh organized a group of people to invest in North Carolina lands. Some of these were legitimate investors—others were dummies—with control firmly clutched in Henry's hands. The group was to encourage permanent development by distribution of cheap land. By Privy Council action, in 1737 they were granted one million two hundred thousand acres of land "along the Eno, the Cape Fear, and New Rivers, and the Pee Dee, Yadkin, and Catawba Rivers". Tract No. 11 fell 42,000 acres in present Guilford County. To indicate the scope of these tracts, present day Durham is in tract No. 12, Burlington in No. 11, Lexington and East Spencer in No. 9, Charlotte in No. 3.

In March, April, and May of 1738, Matthew Rowan made the first survey of these tracts "for Murray Crymble, James Huey, merchants in London, and their associates". Promotion of these lands was directed to the Palatines, eventually resulting in large numbers of Germans emigrating to America. Most came by way of Philadelphia and northern ports, with some coming by way of Charleston. Almost none came by way of North Carolina ports, because of dangerous waters and poor ports. They began arriving in North Carolina coming up the Pee Dee and Yadkin and down the Great Wagon Road before 1750. By 1760 they were arriving in droves, taking up lands and establishing homes.

These Crown Grants were confirmed by Governor Gabriel Johnson on May 3, 1745, "for a period of ten years, providing one white person per two hundred acres be settled on the land". Continuation of rights after ten years was to be a Royal prerogative, based on performance. Five of the twelve grants fell wholly within the territory of Granville, in essence, granting the same land twice. This resulted in great disagreement. There were lawsuits and counter suits in the British courts between Granville and McCulloh for years, and drastic action in North Carolina, too. The dual granting of these lands proved to be the greatest single influencing factor in the settlement and development of the piedmont.

At the instigation of Granville agents, Corbin and Innes, Rowan and Orange counties were formed. The two county seats were established in 1753. Hillsborough was first named "Corbintown". Two main streets in Salisbury were named "Corbin" and "Innes". The cooperative governor had a county named for him (acting governor Matthew Rowan). The two county seats lay just outside of, and flanking McCulloh lands. That same year, 1753, the Orange/Rowan county line was established precisely on the west corner of tract no. 11, confining that tract to Orange County. This effectively split the five tracts in controversy, and forced registration of land transaction into court houses friendly to Granville.

When it began to appear that McCulloh was to lose the British Court battles, Henry began to transfer enormous acreage to Henry Eustace. Henry Eustace began feverishly buying back previously granted lands. Both maneuvers were attempts to establish legal title. Finally, the five tracts in controversy were transferred to Granville by "deed of surrender". Included with the deed were lists of prior grants to be honored by Granville, and his agents. Granville then

Near the eastern bank of Deep River is a ten foot deep gully with large trees growing out of the bottom of it. This is all that remains of an ancient Indian trail, which became a white man's road in the eighteenth century. A quarter mile west another old trail also became a white man's road in the same period. The crossing of these two roads became an important site early in the settlement of the piedmont.

Thomas Buis and William Buis arrived at this crossroad in 1751. They acquired land, and built an Ordinary (Inn) and a school, overlooking Deep River. Then Anson County, after Rowan County was formed, William Buis became a justice in the new county. He held this job until he died. He was tax lister (Buis District), road commissioner, serving on grand juries, and other public offices (he was bondsman for the Treasurer of Salisbury, etc.). Thomas died in 1757, and William stayed on the land, buying and selling land, accumulating hundreds of acres of land. William was involved in the formation of Abbotts Creek Baptist Church, not far away. William Buis died in 1763, willing to son John "The plantation where I now live" (the Ordinary). The adjoining farm he left to two daughters, Grizzella and Susannah, with John as trustee. By 1770, the Ordinary had become well enough known to be displayed on Colletts map, "Bewes Ordinary."

On Easter Monday 1771, the first meeting of the new officials of new Guilford County was held here, "at Robert Lindsay's." Lindsay had possession of the Ordinary, apparently operating it for the Buis heirs. It was a well known site, on two prominent roads, probably the largest building in the new county, and a natural site for the new court to meet. Four weeks later, Governor Tryon and his army encamped here. Tryon had captured hundreds of Regulators at Alamance. He placed them in irons, chained them together, and drove this unfortunate coffle across the piedmont as an object lesson to others. He paid Buis five pounds "for the corn destroyed by the horses of the army." It is not known if the Regulators ate.

In 1773 John Buis sold part of the land to Robert Lindsay, apparently to build a store. Lindsay married Ann McGee, daughter of the merchant, John McGee. In 1779 John Buis, John Ledford (Grizzella) and Samuel Hartgrove (Susannah) sold the Ordinary and the adjoining farm to Robert Lindsay, who obtained state grants for other lands. The Ordinary never operated again.

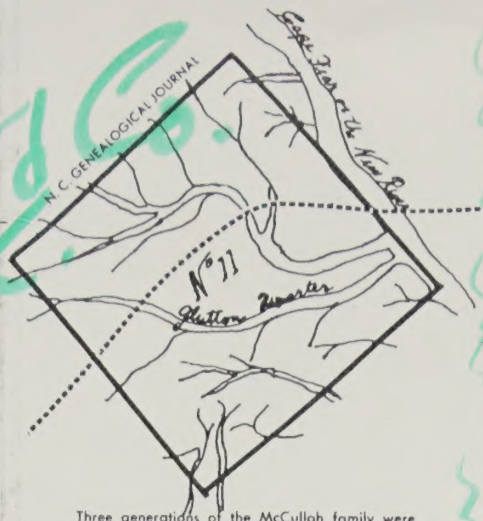
COLONIAL COUNTIES OF THE PIEDMONT

The history of government presents an interesting study. So very often there were two reasons for an action, the stated reason — and the real one. Then events would reveal the secret, but real reason. Isn't it strange that so many leading politicians happened to own the only tract of land suitable for a county seat and courthouse?

During this period, government was still a toy of the aristocracy — the titled, the military, the wealthy, and the clerics. Birth of new counties was not the result of growth and development of need. Instead, they were formed as the potential for exploitation expanded. Ancient European methods were used. The pioneers were treated precisely as peasants had been treated for centuries. With absolute disregard for their wishes, government was crammed down their throats.

Orange and Rowan counties were formed as a strategy of the continuing land war between Granville and McCulloh, the giant land proprietors of Carolina. Anson County probably was a part of this package — an attempt of Granville to divide and conquer McCulloh. Guilford, Surry, Wake, Tryon and Chatham counties were formed by a barbarian governor, pursuing sources of revenue for his extravagant excesses. Each new county formed would give him another new sheriff (Tax Collector). Tryon stated that less than half the monies collected ever saw the public treasury. Thinking that half a loaf was better than all of none, he arranged the formation of five counties. In four of them he claimed "excesses of the Regulators" as the reason for their formation, ignoring the fact that this movement was a direct result of his own policies and appointees. And he gained more sheriffs.

Venal men could always be found for the necessary "petitions." There is a strange correlation between the signatories of the petitions and the lists of new county officials. And true to Tryon's state



Three generations of the McCulloh family were deeply involved in the early history of North Carolina, colonial and state. They were Henry McCulloh, son Henry Eustace McCulloh, and grandson George McCulloh. Henry, an Ulster Scot merchant in London, influenced the location for settlement of large numbers of the pioneers. For instance, in present Guilford County, all of the first Germans settled on McCulloh lands, and none of the Quakers.

Henry McCulloh organized a group of people to invest in North Carolina lands. Some of these were legitimate investors—others were dummies—with control firmly clutched in Henry's hands. The group was to encourage permanent development by distribution of cheap land. By Privy Council action, in 1737 they were granted one million two hundred thousand acres of land "along the Eno, the Cape Fear, and New Rivers, and the Pee Dee, Yadkin, and Catawba Rivers". To indicate the scope of these tracts, present day Durham is in tract No. 12, Burlington in No. 11, Lexington and East Spencer in No. 9, Charlotte in No. 3.

In March, April, and May of 1738, Matthew Rowan made the first survey of these tracts "for Murray Crymble, James Huey, merchants in London, and their associates". Promotion of these lands was directed to the Palatines, eventually resulting in large numbers of Germans emigrating to America. They began arriving in North Carolina coming up the Pee Dee and Yadkin and down the Great Wagon Road before 1750. By 1760 they were arriving in droves, taking up lands and establishing homes.

These Crown Grants were confirmed by Governor Gabriel Johnson on May 3, 1745, "for a period of ten years, providing one white person per two hundred acres be settled on the land". Continuation of rights after ten years was to be a Royal prerogative, based on performance. Five of the twelve grants fell wholly within the territory of Granville, in essence, granting the same land twice. This resulted in great disagreement. There were lawsuits and counter suits in the British courts between Granville and McCulloh for years, and drastic action in North Carolina, too. The dual granting of these lands proved to be the greatest single influencing factor in the settlement and development of the piedmont.

At the instigation of Granville agents, Corbin and Innes, Rowan and Orange counties were formed. The two county seats were established in 1753. Hillsborough was first named "Corbintown". Two main streets in Salisbury were named "Corbin" and "Innes". The cooperative governor had a county named for him (acting governor Matthew Rowan). The two county seats lay just outside of, and flanking McCulloh lands. That same year, 1753, the Orange/Rowan county line was established precisely on the west corner of tract no. 11, confining that tract to Orange County. This effectively split the five tracts in controversy, and forced registration of land transaction into court houses friendly to Granville.

When it began to appear that McCulloh was to lose the British Court battles, Henry began to transfer enormous acreage to Henry Eustace. Henry Eustace began feverishly buying back previously granted lands. Both maneuvers were attempts to establish legal title. Finally, the five tracts in controversy were transferred to Granville by "deed of surrender". Included with the deed were lists of prior grants to be honored by Granville and his agents. Granville then died in 1763, and his land grant office was closed. This left a hiatus of land grants in northern North Carolina for fifteen years. The Granville estate was embroiled in court action and the agents could not make legal grants. Thousands of pioneers made "tomahawk surveys" and squatted on the land awaiting reopening of the land grant office. The next legal grants were to be made by the new state, beginning in 1778.

The collapse of the McCulloh empire brought a conspiracy of vultures to pick the bones of the fallen giant. In 1765 at Anson Court House, a sheriff's sale of the McCulloh lands was held, covering those tracts falling in Crown lands. With only one day's notice, those seven one hundred thousand acre tracts were auctioned off. Among the purchasers were William Tryon, Edmond Fanning, the Moravian Bishop Spangenburg, and John Collett—for five pounds each!!!!

In the meantime, Henry Eustace was selling the lands bought up, and those transferred from his father. A large amount of this land was sold on credit. When the revolution came along, Henry Eustace was in England, never to return. His affairs were in the hands of agents. The new state confiscated all the McCulloh properties, and court action after court action confirmed title in fee simple to many McCulloh debtors, even though the lands were not paid for. In addition, the state issued land grants in unoccupied McCulloh lands.

George McCulloh, bastard son of Henry Eustace, came into the action after the revolution. A minor at the time, in a few years he joined the agents of his father in pursuit of release of confiscated lands and suits against debtors. He established a law office in Asheboro, near to much of the affected lands. In 1779, George married Elizabeth Buhe, a backwoods girl from near present day Mocksville. Henry Eustace never forgave him for marrying beneath his station, and never saw either his daughter-in-law, or his granddaughter.

Henry Eustace McCulloh placed claims against the Crown for compensation for his lost properties. There was considerable bickering with the awards board for several years, but in the end, he received a cash settlement, plus 300 pounds quarterly pension to replace the lost income. He died in a mad house in England, his mind completely broken.

LOW'S TOWN

The first town in Guilford was formed before the county was formed. In 1760 "the first year of the reign of King George III", Thomas Low (Lau) obtained land from McCulloh, on The Trading Path, in Orange County. In 1769 he recorded a plot, now lost, for a town from this tract. In 1770, Low sold at least 17 lots from this town, ¾ acre in size. A few months later, Guilford was formed, simultaneously with the Colonial army marching to the Alamance, nearby. Apparently the great violence of the "battle" so near, and the changed political climate, discouraged the prospects for the purchasers, for the town never developed.

BEWES ORDINARY

Near the eastern bank of Deep River in a ten foot deep gully with large trees growing out of the bottom of it. This is all that remains of an ancient Indian trail, which became a white man's road in the eighteenth century. A quarter mile west another old trail also became a white man's road in the same period. The crossing of these two roads became an important site early in the settlement of the piedmont.

Thomas Buis and William Buis arrived at this crossroad in 1751. They acquired land, and built an Ordinary (Inn) and a school, overlooking Deep River. Then Anson County, after Rowan County was formed, William Buis became a justice in the new county. He held this job until he died. He was tax lister (Buis District), road commissioner, serving on grand juries, and other public offices (he was bondsman for the Treasurer of Salisbury, etc.). Thomas died in 1757, and William stayed on the land, buying and selling land, accumulating hundreds of acres of land. William was involved in the formation of Abbotts Creek Baptist Church, not far away. William Buis died in 1763, willing to son John "The plantation where I now live" (the Ordinary). The adjoining farm he left to two daughters, Grizzella and Susannah, with John as trustee. By 1770, the Ordinary had become well enough known to be displayed on Colletts map, "Bewes Ordinary."

On Easter Monday 1771, the first meeting of the new officials of new Guilford County was held here, "at Robert Lindsay's." Lindsay had possession of the Ordinary, apparently operating it for the Buis heirs. It was a well known site, on two prominent roads, probably the largest building in the new county, and a natural site for the new court to meet. Four weeks later, Governor Tryon and his army encamped here. Tryon had captured hundreds of Regulators at Alamance. He placed them in irons, chained them together, and drove this unfortunate coffle across the piedmont as an object lesson to others. He paid Buis five pounds "for the corn destroyed by the horses of the army." It is not known if the Regulators ate.

In 1773 John Buis sold part of the land to Robert Lindsay, apparently to build a store. Lindsay married Ann McGee, daughter of the merchant, John McGee. In 1779 John Buis, John Ledford (Grizzella) and Samuel Hartgrove (Susannah) sold the Ordinary and the adjoining farm to Robert Lindsay, who obtained state grants for other lands. The Ordinary never operated again.

COLONIAL COUNTIES OF THE PIEDMONT

The history of government presents an interesting study. So very often there were two reasons for an action, the stated reason — and the real one. Then events would reveal the secret, but real reason. Isn't it strange that so many leading politicians happened to own the only tract of land suitable for a county seat and courthouse?

During this period, government was still a toy of the aristocracy — the titled, the military, the wealthy, and the clerics. Birth of new counties was not the result of growth and development of need. Instead, they were formed as the potential for exploitation expanded. Ancient European methods were used. The pioneers were treated precisely as peasants had been treated for centuries. With absolute disregard for their wishes, government was crammed down their throats.

Orange and Rowan counties were formed as a strategy of the continuing land war between Granville and McCulloh, the giant land proprietors of Carolina. Anson County probably was a part of this package — an attempt of Granville to divide and conquer McCulloh. Guilford, Surry, Wake, Tryon and Chatham counties were formed by a barbarian governor, pursuing sources of revenue for his extravagant excesses. Each new county formed would give him another new sheriff (Tax Collector). Tryon stated that less than half the monies collected ever saw the public treasury. Thinking that half a loaf was better than all of none, he arranged the formation of five counties. In four of them he claimed "excesses of the Regulators" as the reason for their formation, ignoring the fact that this movement was a direct result of his own policies and appointees. And he gained more sheriffs.

Venal men could always be found for the necessary "petitions." There is a strange correlation between the signatories of the petitions and the lists of new county officials. And true to Tryon's statement, many of them, if not most, became wealthy in "public service." The Quakers thought that the disadvantages of government overbalanced the advantages. They stayed away from the polls in droves. Events were to give validity to their belief. With a language barrier, the Germans played little part in the new government. It was not a coincidence that Ulster Scots grabbed all the profitable jobs of government. They were all that was left.

LITERACY IN GUILFORD

For centuries there has been a requirement in land transfers that the grantor attest to the transfer by use of his seal and signature or witnessed mark. This requirement produced evidence that can be used to determine literacy at some unknown level. This evidence is acceptable to statistical historians. A signature indicates ability to read and write, but the level must be determined by other methods and evidence.

The first four deed books of Guilford County have been examined, and signatures and marks abstracted. The clerks signature was ignored and any dubious or questionable signatures counted as marks. Care was used to produce a conservative number.

Some people used a mark almost like a brand. Martin and Ann Staley (Steh li) used artistic letters M & A to sign. When Martin died, Martin, Jr. used the same mark. Philip Clap used FC to mark his documents, Martha Barton M, Elizabeth Dunn E, Peter Lawrance P, Hugh Wiley H, William Wiley W, Anthony Goble A, Mary Weitzel X, Thomas Bostian T, Francis Clark FC and many others. All of these were counted as marks, although there is other evidence that most would sign in German script.

died in 1763, and his land grant office was closed. This left a hiatus of land grants in northern North Carolina for fifteen years. The Granville estate was embroiled in court action and the agents could not make legal grants. Thousands of pioneers made "tomahawk surveys" and squatted on the land awaiting reopening of the land grant office. The next legal grants were to be made by the new state, beginning in 1778.

The collapse of the McCulloh empire brought a conspiracy of vultures to pick the bones of the fallen giant. In 1765 at Anson Court House, a sheriff's sale of the McCulloh lands was held, covering those tracts falling in Crown lands. With only one day's notice, those seven one hundred thousand acre tracts were auctioned off. Among the purchasers were William Tryon, Edmond Fanning, the Moravian Bishop Spangenburg, and John Collett—for five pounds each!!!!

In the meantime, Henry Eustace was selling the lands bought up, and those transferred from his father. A large amount of this land was sold on credit. When the revolution came along, Henry Eustace was in England, never to return. His affairs were in the hands of agents. The new state confiscated all the McCulloh properties, and court action after court action confirmed title in fee simple to many McCulloh debtors, even though the lands were not paid for. In addition, the state issued land grants in unoccupied McCulloh lands.

George McCulloh, bastard son of Henry Eustace, came into the action after the revolution. A minor at the time, in a few years he joined the agents of his father in pursuit of release of confiscated lands and suits against debtors. He established a law office in Asheboro, near to much of the affected lands. In 1779, George married Elizabeth Buhe, a backwoods girl from near present day Mocksville. Henry Eustace never forgave him for marrying beneath his station, and never saw either his daughter-in-law, or his granddaughter.

There was considerable bickering with the awards board for several years, but in the end, he received a cash settlement, plus 300 pounds quarterly pension to replace the lost income. ish in Philadelphia, and accompanied the Royal Army to New York. Captured in the privateer Impertinent. In 1779 in jail, and to be tried.

McCLATCHEY, ———. I suppose of Georgia. In 1793 he lived in Florida, and was largely concerned in the Indian trade, under permission of the Spanish Government to import goods directly from England.

McCOMB, ———. He commanded a company in the battle of Bennington, in 1777, and was there killed.

McCORMICK, WILLIAM. Of North Carolina. Went to England. In July, 1779, he was in London, and presented an Address to the king. His property was confiscated.

McCREA, or CRA, ALEXANDER. Of North Carolina. Captain in the Loyal Militia. Taken prisoner in the battle at Cross Creek, 1776. Confined in Halifax Jail; sent, finally, to Maryland.

McCULLOH, HENRY. Of North Carolina. He obtained a patent for 1,200,000 acres of land in that Colony for himself and his associates; and, though a man of fortune, became greatly embarrassed by his endeavors to induce emigration from Ireland for the settlement of this vast domain. He held the offices of Secretary of North Carolina, of Surveyor, Inspector and Comptroller of the Revenue, and of Commissioner of Crown Lands. He died in England, "at a great age," in 1779, or the previous year. His name appears in the Confiscation Act, though, as will be seen presently, his estate had been conveyed to his son.

McCULLOH, HENRY EUSTACE. Of North Carolina. Son of Henry McCulloh. He was educated to the law in London. About the year 1761 he emigrated to North Carolina, where, at first merely the agent of his father, he became a member of the Council, Collector of the Customs for the port of Roanoke, and Representative of the Colony in England. At the Revolutionary era, he was the sole surviving child, and obtained from his father a conveyance of all the property in North Carolina; and such was his tact and address, in adjusting his father's accounts with the Crown, that he acquired "64,400 well selected acres, without the payment of a single dollar." In 1774, the Whigs dismissed him as Colonial Agent; and in 1779 his estate was confiscated. In 1784 he applied to the Legislature to annul the act of confiscation, but without success. Distinguished Whigs advocated his cause with zeal, only to lessen their own influence and popularity. He petitioned again the next year; but, instead of relief, an Act was passed for the immediate sale of the whole of the forfeited property. Tidings of the state of feeling reached him at London, in May, 1785, when he wrote:—

"In case of the idea of an Act of Banishment being carried into execution, I beg my friends will not make an effort to take my name out of it, . . . I should wish it in; as things are, I consider myself, as it relates to North Carolina, as a person, naturally as well as politically, dead; and after all, my heart feels an additional pang when it reflects that, to the rest of my most unmerited and severe usage, I am obliged to add the painful thought that I shall now,—probably never,—see persons both most near and dear to me." In 1788 he said, in a letter: "America may, must, and will, from day to day, rue her separation from England. Did North Carolina deserve anything at my hands, connected as I am here, I might do her great service." He adds: "Apply to the State for the debt they owe me as their Agent. For shame sake they will not refuse payment."

At the date last mentioned, he was agent of the North Carolina Loyalists for prosecuting their claims for losses. He himself was a claimant; and though he received a considerable sum, he was dissatisfied. His integrity may well be questioned, since, in his capacity of Councillor, he sold his vote, in favor of the Tuscarora grant of lands, to Williams, Pugh, and Jones, for one thousand acres of land. The fact that he was thus bribed seems to have been notorious. Mr. Alexander Elmsley, a gentleman who filled an official station of responsibility while in London, wrote to a friend in North Carolina thus: "Mr. McCulloh has often been talking to me of buying the one thousand acres of land he got for his vote in Council from Pugh and Williams. I have never listened to him," &c.

James Iredell, who, after the organization of the Federal Government, was a Judge of the Supreme Court, was his kinsman, and rendered him much valuable service, for which he was never requited. Indeed, the Judge, by the account of McRäe, his biographer, was treated with marked ingratitude. McCulloh was "a man of more than ordinary ability and culture," but cunning rather than wise; of "loose morals," yet, possessed of "a decent regard for appearances, he veiled his vices from the public eye." He cruelly neglected his "illegitimate son George, who, an amiable young man, received an excellent education in England." Though reduced in fortune, McCulloh still had an annual income of twelve hundred guineas, after the adjustment of his claim with the British Government, which, as he lived retired, was a competence. He died at his country seat, near London.

McCulloh, Alexander. Of North Carolina. A member of the Council. He advised Governor Martin to issue a proclamation against the Whig Convention appointed to meet at Newbern, April 3d, 1775, to elect delegates to the Continental Congress.

McCulloh, Charles. Of Georgia. Attainted, and estate confiscated.

McCulloh, Robert. Appointed Collector of the Customs in 1779, when an effort was made to reëstablish the Royal Government. A Loyalist, named Robert McCulloch, was an Associator at New York, in 1782, to settle at Shelburne, Nova Scotia; probably the same.

McDonald, Alexander. Major in the regiment of North Carolina Highlanders. He was taken prisoner in the battle of Cross Creek, 1776, confined in jail, but ordered finally to Philadelphia. His wife was the celebrated Flora McDonald, who was so true, so devoted to the unfortunate Prince Charles Edward, the last Stuart who sought the throne of England. The story is familiar to all, and I will not repeat it. Suffice it to say that Flora and her husband emigrated to North Carized Rehoboth, the first Methodist church established west the Catawba. It was there he met and married Nancy Morr a devout woman and a member of the Virginia colony, whi had just settled in that community. His bitter experiences du ing the period of his early captivity served in good stead in after years of his ministerial life. In many places he met wi ridicule and persecution but "endured hardness as a good s dier." Dr. Albert M. Shipp in The History of Methodism South Carolina gives account of a ruffian band led by one P menter Morgan, who seized Asbury and brought him befo Jonathan Hampton, a worthy Magistrate in Rutherford Cou on the charge that he was going about preaching the gospel wi out authority, and the good magistrate dismissed the case as inspired by malicious persecution.

Daniel Asbury did not possess high scholarship, but wit rare knowledge of the pioneer people, among whom he labo and with a deep religious experience and a spiritual disce ment of the truth which was marvelous, his fervent appeals unconverted seemed irresistible and his ministry was abundan blessed. He was a moving spirit in the great spiritual awak ing of 1802 when the Presbyterians and Methodists combi to overcome the iniquity of the times, and a great spiritual w swept over this section of the country. With all of his serio ness he had a fine sense of humor as once shown while prea ing in Columbia; some of the congregation showed decided si of drowsiness when he said, "These people want to hear gospel but the Devil is trying to put them to sleep."

On Sunday, April 15, 1825, at his home in Lincoln Cou he died suddenly and his body was buried in the graveyard Rehoboth church, in the present County of Catawba, nearby Lincolnton and Mooresville highway. It is a coincidence tha was born, captured by the Indians, returned from captivity, c verted and died on the Sabbath day. It was this good man laid the foundation of the Methodist church in this sectio the State and his burial spot deserves an imposing marke commemorate the priceless service he rendered as a mini of Christ.

A petition, signed by William Henderson, Jacob Rams Robert Williamson, G. McCulloh and Vardry McBee was to the General Assembly, setting forth that legislative autho lenburg and Cabarrus to choose Presidential Elector. A Correspondence Committee composed of D. J. Coulter, Hugh Quinn, D. Ramsour, Rev. Hartwell Spain, Col. E. A. Brevard and D. Reinhardt, was appointed.

A Jackson meeting was held in Lincolnton with D. M. Forney, Chairman, and Col. Michael Reinhardt, Secretary. On motion of J. P. Henderson, Major J. M. Brevard, Major D. M. Forney, Col. Michael Reinhardt, Jacob Forney and Larkin Stowe were appointed delegates to Congressional Convention. Peregrine Roberts, a Lincolnton lawyer, was district elector on the Jackson ticket.

July 24th. Advertisement. Dr. S. P. Simpson, Trustee, to satisfy payment of debts due David Ramsour and others, from Isaac Irwin, will sell on August 18th at public auction at Court House in Lincolnton, one negro woman, one cow and other property.

August 17th. H. W. Connor has been re-elected to Congress without opposition. Miles W. Abernethy was elected County Court Clerk and John D. Hoke, Superior Court Clerk.

Note: Lawson Henderson appointed Superior Court Clerk for life in 1808, was not a candidate, and when Hoke, who was elected demanded possession of the office, Henderson said it belonged to him. Then followed the famous suit of Hoke against Henderson, which resulted in the notable opinion of Chief Justice Ruffin in which he sustained the contention of Henderson that the office was his for life and therefore his property.

Dr. W. J. T. Miller (of Shelby) was married in 1833 to Elizabeth Fulenwider, daughter of Jacob Fulenwider.

September 28th. Peregrine Roberts, a Lincolnton lawyer, has issued proposals to publish a paper in that place to be called the Lincoln Herald.

Died in Lincolnton, October 9th, George McCullough, aged 70.

Note: He was father of Mrs. W. R. Clark, Mrs. Augustus P. James, Mrs. Propst, and Mrs. Harriet Bomar, the last named was postmaster in Lincolnton prior to 1868.

December. William Julius Alexander has been chosen solicitor for the 6th Judicial District by the Legislature.

DEED ABSTRACTS OF TRYON, LINCOLN & RUTHERFORD COUNTIES NORTH CAROLINA 1769-1786 TRYON COUNTY WILLS & ESTATES

Abstracted By:
Brent Holcomb, C.R.S.

Published By:
Southern Historical Press

INTRODUCTION

Tryon County was formed from Mecklenburg County in 1769, Mecklenburg having been formed from Anson County in 1763. At its formation, Tryon County extended north to Earl Granville's line and west to the Indian line of 1767 (a portion of which is now the line between Greenville and Spartanburg Counties, South Carolina.). The eastern boundary was the Catawba River. Tryon County included all or part of the North Carolina counties of Lincoln, Gaston, Cleveland, Rutherford, Henderson, Polk, Burke and McDowell and the South Carolina counties of York, Chester, Union, Cherokee, Spartanburg, Greenville, Laurens and Newberry. While no land grants from Tryon County may have fallen as far south as Laurens or Newberry counties, the lands which were granted earlier from Mecklenburg and Anson counties came under the jurisdiction of Tryon County, e. g. the deed from Jacob and Mary Pennington to Alexander Lockart, page 28 (372-375) and the deed from John and Martha Dickinson to John Patton, page 32 (433).

The first courts of Tryon County were held in what is now York County, South Carolina. The court house site was moved into present Gaston County, North Carolina, when the border survey of 1772 determined the other site to be in South Carolina. When the border survey was made, the South Carolina county system as we know it was not yet set up. The Tryon County lands south of the border were then in Craven or Berkley (sometimes spelled Barkley) counties and/or Camden or Ninety Six District, or occasionally St. Mark's Parish was used for location. After the border survey, the lands formerly granted by North Carolina were registered in the South Carolina Land Memorials and often called "North Patents." South Carolina issued new grants for some of these lands, e. g., the grant to Giles Connel, S. C. Royal Grants, Vol. 33, p. 208, and the grant to James Gibbs, S. C. Royal Grants, Vol. 33, p. 252.

The few remaining wills and estate papers from Tryon County are in the North Carolina Archives filed with the Lincoln County records. All those pertaining to Tryon County are abstracted here as well as the lists of wills and estates from the Secretary of State's papers.

The copies of the Tryon deeds abstracted here are those in the Lincoln County Court House--Lincoln Volumes 1 and 2. While some of the original deed books are extant, they are not complete and some are in poor condition. However, they have been compared to the Lincoln copies, and the Lincoln copies are quite accurate and legible. There are some gaps in the deeds, but this does not signify that any recorded deeds have been lost. These gaps correspond with gaps in the Minutes of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions. Apparently, the court did not function at certain times for one reason or another.

The Lincoln deeds are abstracted here to the end of Volume 2 (1786). Tryon County was abolished in 1779 to form Lincoln and Rutherford Counites. The Rutherford Deeds are abstracted for the same period, Volume A-d actually going on to 1787. This will take the Rutherford abstracts up to the point where Mrs. Caroline Davis began her work. As would be expected, some Tryon deeds were recorded late, after Lincoln and Rutherford Counties were formed. What may not be expected are the occasional deeds involving South Carolina lands recorded in these counties.

These deeds, wills and estates should provide many missing links for the researcher working on the Carolina frontier. This is a continuation of my abstracts of records of Anson and Mecklenburg Counties soon to be completed.

FOREWORD

This is a copy of the original index book showing the Revolutionary claims filed in South Carolina between August 20, 1783 and August 31, 1786, as kept by the Auditor General, James McCall.

When a claim was audited and an account made out, called the "account audited," it was passed upon by the Auditor General. Then the audited account, together with the claim as filed, and all other papers pertaining thereto, such as supporting affidavits, passed to a legislative committee for final approval. A number of such accounts audited were handed to the legislative committee on August 20, 1783, and referred to as "RETURN No. 1." On October 29, 1783, another package of audited accounts passed to the legislative council, called "RETURN No. 2" and so on until 118 "RETURNS" had been made, the last being on August 31, 1786. This is made clear by reference to the "STATE OF RETURNS" at the end of the index. The figures following the names are the return numbers, and serve as an index to the date that the claim and audited account was handed to the legislative council.

If the council wished to defer a claim, for further information, or other reasons, it was then returned to the Auditor General, or refiled by the applicant, and later handed back to the committee with another "RETURN" which gave the claim a new return number. Only a very few claims were rejected or deferred, but it sometimes requires study to determine whether a name followed by several return numbers has reference to one person or several persons of the same name, since a name was entered in the index book only one time, although there might have been several persons to whom it referred. There were no RETURNS bearing the numbers 4, 6, 7, 70, 71, 72, 122 and 124. I have not found an explanation for these omissions.

After approval by the legislative committee an "INDENT" was made out for payment of the claim, with notations on the indent stub showing the amount, to whom payable, and for what service the claim was filed. These are referred to as the "stub entries." When an Indent was paid, it was then placed back in the file with the other papers, and kept in the archives. Sometimes these Indents were paid by installments; and frequently they were assigned to others, being negotiable.

Some of the papers are missing from the archives. Compare the index with the stub entries to determine whether a claim was approved and paid; or whether more than one person of the same name filed claims. Much may be learned by such a comparison and study.

Persons using this book should not overlook the interesting information following the general index.

WILLIAMSBURG COUNTY PRESBYTERIANS, 1803

Contributed by Laurence K. Wells
Jacksonville, Florida

In SCMAR Vol. 3, pages 39-40 we published two legislative petitions from the 1780's which listed the members of the historic Williamsburgh and Indiantown Presbyterians Churches of Williamsburg County. Subsequently there came to our attention a deed recorded in Williamsburg Co. Deed Book A, dated 29 Dec. 1803, in which Robert Witherspoon and William Wilson of Williamsburgh County, and John R. Witherspoon of Christ Church Parish, being executors of the Will of James Witherspoon Junr, decd, deeded to the members of the Calvinistic Church a parcel of three acres, being part of a tract granted to James Witherspoon June 2 Oct. 1786 containing 500 acres. The deed contains 50 names, presumably the entire membership of the congregation. These names were:

Joseph McKee
Robert Frierson Senr
James Bradley
John Graham
Samuel Wilson
John Wilson
John Frierson Senr
Gavin Witherspoon
William Frierson Senr
James McBride
Elias Frierson
Robert P. Witherspoon
Joseph Witherspoon

This list, of course, pertains to the Williamsburgh Church of Kingstree. The site is still occupied by a large historic cemetery, the church having moved a few blocks away.

SOME SUGGESTED EMENDATIONS OF THE 1778 JURY LIST

By Laurence K. Wells
Jacksonville, Florida

An unusually valuable and helpful addition to the genealogical literature of South Carolina appeared just a decade ago in The Jury Lists of South Carolina, 1778--1779 prepared by GeLee Corley Hendrix and Morn McKoy Lindsay. As Editor of SCMAR in those days it was my privilege to review this book. Ten years of use have increased my gratitude for it.

For those not yet familiar with this work, it contains the list of all adult male freeholders in South Carolina who were liable for jury service. The list was in all probability prepared from tax lists of a year or two before 1778 and therefore serves as a kind of State Census. It provides the earliest available datum for two of this writer's ancestors and proves their residence in York County, S.C., when no Plats, Grants, Memorials or Deeds were forthcoming.

One difficulty of this work, however, is owing to the fact that many names were spelled in ways which were peculiar even for the 18th century. Some of these garbled names are easily corrected by local genealogists who are familiar with other records. Following are some suggestions for correcting the list from New Acquisition District, later styled York County. It should be emphasized that these are not the mistakes of Mesdames Hendrix and Lindsay. The errors developed when the legislature's scribe attempted to copy the tax list or whatever he had before him.

Meeting of February 19, 1763.

His Excellency the Governor acquainted the Board that a vessel was arrived in the Port of Charles Town with about seventy persons from Ireland who were come into this Province on the encouragement of Bounty given by an Act of Assembly passed the 25th day of July 1761 That in order no time might be lost in settling those persons in either of the two new Townships lately laid out for Foreign Protestants he had ordered those people to attend with their petitions. His Honor the Lieutenant Governor thereupon observed that in order to distinguish those townships from the others in the Province names should be given them and proposed that the one at Long Cane should be called Boonesborough and the other Belfast The Council agreed in opinion with his Honor and it was Ordered accordingly.

The petitioners were thereupon called in when they were severally sworn to their family right and having produced Certificates of their being Protestants the same were read and approved of.

The following petitions for Warrants of Survey of land &ca were then presented and read VIZ

GENEALOGICAL GLEANINGS IN ENGLAND

By PETER WILSON COLDHAM, F.A.S.G.*

ROBERT McCULLOCH OF IRELAND, SOUTH CAROLINA, GEORGIA, AND CHARLTON, KENT, 1779–1788

A large collection of papers (PRO: C106/88) in the Public Record Office, Chancery Lane, London, which has remained undisturbed since its first deposit in the registry of the Court of Chancery, illuminates the professional and private life of Robert McCulloch, an archetypal colonial administrator of the dying years of the British empire in America: of good though not particularly distinguished stock, well educated, well connected, and reasonably well-to-do, and with a thorough grounding in the legal and administrative complexities of his time.

In the guise of Agent for the British Forces, McCulloch is first represented in this series of papers in 1779 when, having arrived in Charleston with the triumphant British Army in that city, he became a busy attorney administering the estates of vanished or dispossessed loyalists or frustrated rebels, including Sir William and Colin Campbell, the once prosperous merchants Thomas Tallemach, John Storr, Thomas Reid, and others. Before long he became involved as Army Paymaster in a multitude of major and minor tasks, from paying off volunteers in Provincial Corps and ships' crews to organizing the supply of provisions. Early in 1780 he moved his headquarters back to Charleston where he was appointed Superintendent of Imports and Exports in May and Postmaster-General in June. Amongst the heavy burdens of office he was still able to find time to conduct a voluminous and increasingly frustrating correspondence with the managers of his plantations in South Carolina, though the preponderance of his papers contained increasingly gloomy reports from the besieged British contingents throughout the southern province.

By the beginning of 1783 McCulloch was based in New York as Army Commissary, again concerned to alleviate the vicissitudes repeatedly overtaking the British Army. From here he seems to have gone briefly to St. Augustine (to relieve the needs of the British who had taken refuge there) before returning to England to take up residence in his house at Charlton, Kent, at the end of the year.

Of his own circumstances throughout his short and somewhat inglorious American career McCulloch left only scant record beyond a series of claims he made between 1784 and 1787 for his losses as a loyalist. In these he maintains that, having refused to take an oath of allegiance to the rebels in South 16 November 1784. Same to same. We think very differently in political matters but we can each enjoy our own opinion. I never blamed you for acting consistent with the duty of your office but why you should find fault with me more than my brother is a mystery to me. You say I held a military commission and indeed it still continues. I was activated by a sincere belief that the views of Americans were just and upright and the intentions of Britain directly opposite. We would never have been independent states had not Britain forced us to be. How you come to consider Americans as a people destitute of virtue, sincerity and honour indeed surprises me. You have mistaken sides or been dazzled by the splendour of a Court or the hopes of gain. Though I entered on the theatre of life with less literary knowledge than you I began at a very early period to shift for myself . . . with few prejudices to combat and none of Office. Being a free citizen in a virtuous Commonwealth I now sit under my own vine and fig tree but this I obtained through the bloody fields of Trenton, Princetown and Germantown. You say you lived happy under the British government but who interrupted it? Who drove the bloody sword at Lexington, who turned a deaf ear to the humble and submissive petition of Congress? The whole conduct of Britain towards us had the hideous depravity of a monster, etc., etc. I am sorry to hear the situation of the family in Derriaughy and poor Joe made a miserable hand of himself and involved me for £200 which I had to pay for him. His wife is alive but unhappy. William's widow is married again to a young man from Boston.

She and us are parted for ever. William left her and Peggy each £100, the tenements to be divided between Jamey and her. My dear girl Peggy paid the debt of nature on 27th of last March. She was an amiable young woman and as dear to me as if she had been my own. She left £50 to her aunt Ann Williamson. Our mother is still alive and well and she has but one son by her last husband who is apprenticed to a silversmith in this City, but I fear is too much of a pet ever to do much good and forsooth has turned a good Roman Catholic. My father-in-law is likewise alive and well. Sister Sally and husband live in Virginia. He is of a fickle temper but makes a good husband to two sons and one daughter. I myself have six children: Samuel, Andrew, Elizabeth, Ann, Mary, and John, all fine. My son Sammy broke his thigh on 4th August by a fall from a tree which he climbed but now goes to school again and is almost fit for college. My son Jack is only three weeks. My business has been that of a dealer in lumber for 6 years past and I am concerned with Mr. Peterson, a native of this place, and have one of the best boardyards in the City on Water Street, between Walnut Street and the drawbridge. Mr. Robert Cocks has moved to New York six months ago having lived next door to our yard for some years. James McCutchen and family are well and his two daughters are both married to seafaring men.

4 June 1785. Same to same. I have sent you a chair. My sister Nancy, husband and family arrived six weeks ago and are all well except my sister. I have six children, three sons and three daughters, and my oldest is in college.

1 September 1785. Same to same. My wife has been very sickly this summer and myself as busy as possible, sometimes making money and sometimes losing it. I am told you are turned farmer. I wish you had your money somewhere else than in the funds of England. My best wishes to my sister and your children.

27 July 1787. Same to same. I was happy to hear of the happy revolution in the affairs of your family by the death of Mr. Browne. Frank (presumably Robert McCulloch's son) has been here more than three weeks but more with my family about 12 miles in the country at the Germanstown place who have gone out of town for about a month for the children's holidays. He is to go to the sea side to take the waters for his health and I will not tell him of his uncle's death until his return. He will return to you by the vessel which carries this letter. I am perfectly easy as to the sale of my land. My compliments to my Nancy and your amiable daughter.

16 July 1785. The brother James McCulloch wrote twice from Baltimore to Robert McCulloch at Charlton. I have been clouded in sorrow for 12 months by the loss of my dearest child Peggy. This was my child and yours, the last remains of our dear brother, cut off by consumption which she caught in her father's illness. March '73 took from me my brother and March '74 my poor little orphan. I am much pleased with your description of Georgia and would like to go there but my constitution will not allow. We have established two stores, one in Richmond and one in Petersburgh. I cannot have you damning all the New Englanders — you have lived far too long under the influence of George the Third. My brother William made a will and left his wife and daughters £1000 each and the remainder of his estate to John and myself. Dear Peggy also made a will leaving £50 to my sister Nancy in Ireland.

17 January 1788. I enclose a statement of Frank's account and hope he is now with you re-established in health.

4 October 1784. Eleanor McCulloch writes from Bath to her father Robert McCulloch. I went to chapel but wished to be out of it during the sermon. The morning we left Charlton my uncle was determined to dine at Newbery but we dined at Hungerford. He had the gout our first night in Bath but sends his love to my mother and you. I have had a letter from Frank.

2 November 1784. Same to same. Brother Frank has applied to my aunt for money for fireworks for 5th November.

4 November 1784. Robert Johnston writes from Derriaghy, Ireland, to Robert McCulloch. I have paid your drafts to Mr. Biers and Mr. Russell and a year's rent for your uncle.

?1785. Instructions to Mr. L. M. Stretch respecting Mr. McCulloch's son [?Frank] with particular respect to his learning and morals. He is to pursue the Greek and Latin classics, French and English, etc. No time should be taken up in dancing or drawing until he has reached proficiency in the more essential parts of his education.

14 July 1785. Susanna Thompson writes from Ferry Bridge to her brother "Robin" McCulloch at Charlton about money to provide for the future of her child Tom.

20 December 1785. Account of monies due to Robert McCulloch, Constable of Charlton, for keeping prisoners, etc.

16 January 1786. Robert McCulloch writes from Derriaghy, Ireland, to his nephew Robert McCulloch in Charlton. All your old friends ask after you. I am very sorry for your trouble in the loss of Mrs. McCulloch. I hear of her death only this month. I am now left without father, mother, sister, brother, uncle, or aunt and am with strangers except for my three children.

4 March 1786. Same to same. I have been in poor health with rheumatism and deafness. I have given you an account of your aunt Isabel's death. Your nephew Master Boyd sends his compliments.

10 July 1787. Same to same. I and my children are well as are your aunt Ranken, Mrs. Thompson and the children. Let me know if your son be come from America.

16 August 1787. J. Torriano writes from Doctors Commons in London to McCulloch. The Prerogative Office has carefully searched for the will of John Kirk of Burton, Leics, from 1740 to 1756, but without success. I presume it was proved in the Diocese of Ely.

Savannah, 25 January 1779. Of Robert McCulloch's American correspondence, the following letters and papers may have some genealogical or historical interest. Petition of Thomas Tallemach, merchant of Savannah, to Commander of H.M. Forces in Georgia. Having married in the Province at the beginning of the war and having a family there, he was obliged to stay in America to support them. When the British entered Savannah his property was taken and he prays for it to be restored.

Savannah, 5 March 1779. Petition of John Storr to Sir Hyde Parker. Property belonging to him and his partner Thomas Reid was taken when the Army prevailed in Georgia and he prays for its restoration.

London, 27 April 1779. Allen Marlar to Robert McCulloch. I enclose an account against the estate of Mr. Hunter, late of St. Kitts, and am appointing you attorney. Mr. Hunter died two years ago in very good circumstances.

Savannah, 25 April 1780. Deposition by David Russell of Christchurch parish regarding his claim against the Army for hire of a waggon.

Savannah, 12 July 1780. Francis Philip Fatio to McCulloch. I have supplied your different plantations with provisions. The rebel Carolinians newly converted to the faith are very thick in the woods, skulking to get back what they call their negroes runaway. They stole some of yours at Silk Hope.

28 July 1780. Same to same. Thomas Gibbons, attorney for Mr. Hayward, has taken from your plantation under the care of Walley 26 of your negroes without any formality whatsoever. The rebels fight us with a double-edged sword. They plundered this Province and all the King's friends until we heard of the surrender of Charlestown, and now they come and forcibly take all those negroes captured from them or who joined the British troops. [The rebels] run no risk. Such fellows who from tailors, cobblers, saddlers, barbers, are become Generals and admitted to the honour of the table of our Chiefs, would have been happy to dine in the kitchen 6 years ago. Rebellion raised them and we support their consequence. I expect to see Washington with a [___?] if he can keep S.H.C [Sir Harry Clinton] at bay another year. Why not a confirmation of his French titles? A rebel is a man who had some parts, some skill alias cunning. A loyal subject is a dull fool, unworthy of any notice no more.

18 Oct 1780. Same to same. The 9th October finished poor John McArthur, who died a martyr to grog. I am told you have a tolerable crop at Silk Hope but a very indifferent one at Brewton. We have a very large demand for negroes in the Engineers' Department at work on the new fortifications. Let me know if there is a possibility of forwarding a letter to Bermuda. In June last Capt. Bruere was appointed Governor with promises to succeed his father and having leave to reside at Bermuda till his Regiment should go on service. He sailed with my daughter in July on the Harriet. The question is now if the Ministry will keep his word as the good old gentleman died on 10th September.

Savannah, 7 September 1780. William White to McCulloch. To let you know the plantation [Silk Hope] is in want of four pairs of [___?] and of coopers to make rice barrels. Five negroes were taken from the plantation on 28th August, formerly the property of Jonathan Bensham for former debts. The negroes would be much more satisfied to their work if you would come to the plantation.

Savannah, 6 March 1781. Same to same. I will begin putting the negroes to planting corn and potatoes. There is 46 negroes to be fed besides the [?detachment] of 10. I have begun to ready land at Deane Forest.

6 May 1781. Same to same. A party of rebels came within five miles of the plantation and put the negroes to [flight], but I got them together again. Ben and wife is taken from the plantation until his sale comes. Your crop is 43 acres of corn, 7 of potatoes and 85 of rice at Dean Forest and 30 of corn and 4 of potatoes at Silk Hope.

Savannah, 15 September 1780. Alexander Scott to McCulloch. I shall be glad if you will let me have that house and garden at Brutons to rent and keep in order for a year or two.

3 October 1780. Joseph Atcheson to McCulloch. Thomas Gebens comes for negroes and takes them when he pleases. I have planted 100 acres of rice on Lady Campbell's estate and 80 acres at Bruwton.

October 1780. Same to same giving detailed reports on the condition of Robert McCulloch's plantations and William Campbell's estate.

Savannah, 26 January 1781. Peter Lamberth [semiliterate] to Robert McCulloch, Charles Town. To acquaint you how the plantation business goes on at Lady Cammel's and Colonel Cammel's. As for my place it was destroyed much. Mr. Mosman told me Voley should go home to his master's place. I shall stay at your place a [___] longer. I told Voley not to leave your plantation. My wife has been very ill, but, when she leaves, will bring all the goods that are left with my brother in the house where I left them.

Savannah, 11 February 1781. John Simpson to McCulloch. When you were last in Savannah you told me your view of purchasing land supposed to be the property of Mr. John Habersham. Lately Mr. Graham received a letter from Mr. Nutt of London saying that old Mr. Habersham was in co-partnership with his son James and the old man's estate is liable for large debts.

Savannah, 22 May 1781. Same to same. I purchased a negro man named Donold at a sale of negroes late the property of James Habersham deceased. He was employed as a driver on a plantation owned by you and is anxious to remain your property. The fellow says you must recollect him. I hope to be soon at Charles Town on my way to Britain.

Charlestown, 7 March 1781. John Cruden to McCulloch. Having a warrant for seizure of the estate of William Parker, I have taken possession of No. 5 Legare Street now occupied by you, and of other property in the town.

Nassau, Bahamas, 20 September 1781. Report on the case of Will Basick, a negro brought here from Charlestown by Captain Lightburn. He says he belonged to Willis Morgan in Bermuda who sent him to Carolina where he was sold before the war. His master became an officer in the American service and therefore his property was declared forfeit. Will joined the King's Army and was employed at the defence of Savannah, where he obtained a free pass from the police, and at the reduction of Charlestown.

26 September 1781. Order for Will Basick to be returned to Charlestown.

?1781 Note on back of printed form: Mrs. Elizabeth Hanna, daughter of Caleb [?Rimonds] of Moarn, Co. Down, left Ireland about 1773 and settled with her husband Hanna and family in [?Haldmays] at or near Elizabeth Town. To hear if she is living, etc.

Charlestown, 18 May 1782. Copy letter from Robert McCulloch to David Gordon. I hope you and your wife are well in London. I hope the blessings of peace will return to this once happy country. I purpose to go into business in Savannah and wish you to be concerned. The sooner we begin the better and this part of the Continent will soon forget the war as its produce must soon make it rich.

30 October 1782. Original will of Robert McKeown of Charlestown, South Carolina. Bequests to his brothers Hugh, John, and James McKeown, sister Elizabeth Carson, nephew James, son of his brother Hugh McKeown, and to the parish of Ballee, Co. Down, Ireland. Executors are to be Robert McCulloch and brother John McKeown.

Baltimore, 16 April 1783. Charles Crookshanks to Robert McCulloch at Charlton. My brother P.C. [Patrick Crookshanks] will have notified you of our establishment here on 1 January last. Since the commencement of the last war this town has had the most rapid rise. The British restrain [the Americans] from trade with the Islands and the French and Spaniards limit them more.

St. Augustine, 26 July 1783. Arthur Roxburgh to McCulloch. Since you left this place little or nothing new has occurred. No one is willing to purchase the goods you left with me. Few people [in Charlestown] find protection for their persons or property and it seems the intention of the violent set to send off any description of British merchants. The mob is now the sole judge and lawgiver of that formidable State. Some mighty revolution in their mighty states seems near at hand.

St. Augustine, 22 August 1783. Rigdon Brice to Robert McCulloch, c/o Robert Boyd, Ironmonger Lane, London. The preliminary Articles of Peace leave me little hopes of recovering my lands in North Carolina. I have deeds for 640 acres in Mattamuskut in Hyde Co., for 640 on Brice's Creek in Craven Co., for 250 on Trent River, Craven Co., and for a lot in New Bern. It is generally believed that England will still keep the Floridas. Please endeavour to procure for me an office in any of these colonies.

St. Augustine, 22 August 1783. George Roupell to McCulloch. Once more the remains of our family are together again. We live in the old way here with fairly good prospects and I am about to take a small house in town. We are still in some anxiety about our moving from here. The Americans continue our exile. For God's sake, is there neither spirit, justice, honor nor honesty left in England? We are the unhappy subjects, I fear, to a more unhappy country and a little time will show their folly. I find our English politicians have some idea of keeping this Rock, I presume to throw away £40 or 50,000.

Savannah, 8 October 1783. Patrick Crookshanks and Alexander J. Speirs to Robert McCulloch. We have not heard from you since you left East Florida. There seems to be a determination to send off the country a few men who are considered very obnoxious. The signing of the treaty might put business on a more solid foundation. Many people from Virginia are settling in the back country.

Falmouth, 5 February 1784. Mrs. K. Clarke to McCulloch. Mr. Clarke has finally gone to sea on 29 January with mails for Lisbon. I am in doubt of the welfare of my Carolina and my sisters and brothers there. I wish to know the number of your family and how you found your little English folks when you came home. My youngest brothers Hugh and George are well at Inverness under the patronage of my husband. My daughter Betsy Inglis is 21 months old.

Falmouth, 26 June 1784. [___] Clarke to McCulloch. Mr. Roupell has returned to his worthy family after he had gone from St. Augustine to Charles Town. I have received a letter from my father's old partner Mr. Lloyd, now President of the Senate of Charleston. My cousin Alwer Inglis will recover the fragments of my father's estate now deposited with Mr. Lloyd . . . and will be able to save some trifle out of the general wreck for my orphan brothers and sister Mary.

?1784. Note of sale of 84 negroes, with names of purchasers, by Crookshanks and Speirs imported in the Polly & Hannah and Robin from Kingston, Jamaica.

Fryday, 5 August 1768. The Lt.Governor believed that some of the people who had been associated with the Regulators had been misled. He offered a pardon for the outrages they have already committed if they return to their homes and occupations. Text of the proclamation given on pages 209-10-11. This pardon did not include Gideon Gibson and others who skirmished with George Thomson, a constable and his party at or near Marrs Bluff, Craven County, 25 July last.

Thomas Adams petitioned to keep a ferry from South Carolina to Augusta, Georgia. He asked that 150 acres might be conveyed to him for the purpose "of the Chickesaw Land opposite to his Lott at Augusta and 15 more about a mile on the said Land being high Land which the freshes [freshets - floods] never effect." The Surveyor General was ordered to survey the land, and Mr. Skottow who holds a grant to the land for the benefit of the public was ordered to make a lease to Thomas Adams for the two tracts.

ROSS (Map Ref. G 3). The Norman family de Ros were established in North Ayrshire in the 12th century, and from the same quarter installed a fresh branch over two centuries ago by purchasing the Balnagowan seat of the unrelated Clan Ross chiefs. Hence many Rosses in the South, in the Moray to Aberdeen sector, and some in Ross-shire itself are really of the same ancestry as Clan Rose, pronounced also Ross.

The Ross clan, otherwise Anrias from a 13th-century chief MacGilleAndreas, 'son of a devotee of St Andrew,' took name from the province of which their earlest chiefs were Earls. They served with Bruce at Bannockburn and came to possess a large section of Ross-shire, but lost much power after Harlaw 1411 (Map, J 5) and the 1476 forfeiture of the earldom to the crown. In more recent times Rosses have earned front rank in such spheres as Polar Exploration, and Tropical Medicine.

SCOTT (Map Ref I 8). The first recorded of this surname, originally spelt Scot, was Uchtred filius Scoti ('son of a Scot,' i.e. not Saxon or Norman) about 1124, and his grandsons are believed to have founded the branches of Buccleuch and of Balwearie in Fife; from which in turn came many others and a noted clan of the Border. The great Sir Walter is far from the only brilliant star among 'the Saucy Scotts.' Michael Scot, 'the Wizard' of Balwearie, contemporary scientist with the 13th-century Roger Bacon, then the 17th-century Sir John Scot of Scotstarvit, another sane eccentric, and David Scott among our finest painters are three that merit fuller appreciation.

Sections attached themselves to Macintosh and MacPherson, whilst many migrated over the Lairig Ghru into Aberdeenshire, and the playwright George Bernard Shaw descends of a Dublin branch. The name Shaw was then adopted as sounding like the original Gaelic. However in the Lowlands it means 'a small wood,' and had been a

Introduction

McCallongh

During the early seventeenth century emigration from Scotland to America was minimal as emigrants were still going to traditional destinations such as Scandinavia, Poland, Germany, the Netherlands, and France, but increasingly to England and, later, especially to Ulster. The descendants of those who settled in Ulster formed one of the most important groups of immigrants in colonial America —the Scotch-Irish. Probably the bulk of Scots in seventeenth-century America were enforced immigrants (see Directory of Scots Banished to the American Plantations, 1650-1775, Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Company, 1983), but there were individuals who settled within the English colonies as well as those who attempted to form independent Scottish colonies in Nova Scotia (ca. 1625), East New Jersey (1683), South Carolina (1684), and Darien (1698). The political union of Scotland and England in 1707 gave unrestricted access to the potential emigrant from Scotland, and this, together with changing political, economic, and social factors, stimulated emigration from Scotland to the American colonies.

Voluntary immigration to America came mainly from the Lowlands in the seventeenth century but during the eighteenth century it came increasingly from the Highlands. From the late 1730s Highlanders immigrated to Carolina and Georgia, later also to New York and Pennsylvania, and after the Revolution to Prince Edward Island (St. John's Island), Quebec, Nova Scotia, and Ontario (Lower Canada). The indenture system was widely used by those who were unable to pay for their passage. Such emigrants contracted with the sea captain or merchant skipper for five to seven years service in the colonies with a colonist to whom the captain sold his rights under the contract. Some indentured servants were fortunate in that they were trained to hold productive positions, whilst others were so exploited that they broke the terms of their indentures and absconded.

The absence of ships' passenger lists for the seventeenth century and much of the eighteenth century has been a perennial problem for historians and genealogists. Early Scots settlers in America can only be identified from surviving manuscripts such as letters, indentures, land grants, diaries, and similar documents. This, however, only identifies a fraction of the total number of immigrants. By the early 1770s the high rate of immigration to America resulted in legislation which made compulsory the listing of emigrants. This continued until 1776 when emigration was prohibited. Those lists that have survived, in conjunction with a few of later date, do provide the names of many Scots emigrants of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

Based on documents found in British archives, as well as on some few published sources, this book brings together in concise form the names of all Scots emigrants appearing in ships' passenger lists before 1825. In addition, there are listed here more than 1,000 Scots who settled in America between 1625 and 1825 and whose names have been located in miscellaneous sources, both published and manuscript.

CHAPTER 31

Great Carolina Land Development

All we have of freedom, all we use or know—
This our fathers bought for us long and long ago.
—Rudyard Kipling

While the great stream of Scotch-Irish immigrants was flowing through Philadelphia to the valleys beyond the Blue Ridge, ships were bearing thousands of others through the warmer southern waters to the port of Charleston, South Carolina. Others landed at Wilmington, North Carolina, at the mouth of the Cape Fear River and pushed inland.

The most elaborate colonization project in this area in which the Houstons were involved was that of Henry McColloch and his son, Henry E. The operation was said to have involved millions of acres of land and 3,000 to 4,000 immigrants. Associated with the McCollochs in the Carolina development was Dr. William Houston of County Antrim, Northern Ireland, who was a partner as well as "agent and trustee." Dr. Houston was possibly a nephew of the senior McCulloch.

As part of their vast operations, the McCollochs obtained an order from King George II for surveying 72,000 acres of land on the "northwest branch of the Clarendon, on the Cape Fear River." Out of this survey, at least four Houstons received lands in Dublin County, North Carolina, and settled there, nearer the coast than the rest of the Houstons who came from Ulster during these years. They were Archibald, David, Thomas and Dr. William Houston. However, Dr. Houston acquired other lands in North and South Carolina and became one of the wealthier landholders. One of his properties was a large plantation on Bull Creek in the Sumpter district of South Carolina.

Houstons spread widely over the state of North Carolina, many of them acquiring McColloch lands. As the developers apparently did not patent lands at the time of transfer, thus saving fees, many of the titles were not patented until years later and in some cases titles came direct from the King instead arrived in New York and settled temporarily at Stillwater. From there, most of the group followed their minister to Salem, but some turned south to the Abbeville District in South Carolina and established a Scotch-Irish community. Later, Rev. Clark moved to the Abbeville area where he served as pastor of Cedar Springs and Long Cane congregations. These Presbyterian settlers were from Ballybay, County Monaghan, Ireland.

* * * *

To this Abbeville settlement a few years later came John Huston, a young man from near Belfast, Ireland. Born in 1750, probably in County Antrim, his early life, like that of many others, was lived in a restless period of religious and political turmoil.

In Ireland, his ancestors, being Presbyterians, were called Seceders since they refused to conform to the established church of England. Politically, they were known as Whigs, that is, supporters of the Revolution of 1688 in which the Prince of Orange came into power. Rather strangely, in America, John Huston married a woman of Scottish birth, Jane Guthrie, whose parents in the old country were Jacobites, that is, adherents of James II in opposition to William of Orange.

However, the Guthries, after arrival in America, became "furious and unrelenting Whigs," giving loyal support to the cause of American independence. Jane was only a year old when the family arrived in the colonies in 1771. She became John Huston's second wife and was 20 years his junior.

If John Huston was seeking escape from the turmoil of Ulster when he came to America, he was in for a rude awakening. More likely he was seeking freedom, which was to come after many years of conflict; or fortune, which was long delayed; but if he sought adventure, there it was awaiting him. There was great bitterness in the Carolinas between the Whigs, demanding independence, and the Tories, loyal to the Crown. The approaching war in this southern area was more often a civil war between the two factions, Americans fighting Americans, than a war of Americans against British soldiers.

By the time the long Revolutionary War was over and the frustrating years of the Confederation had ended with the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, John Huston was nearing the evening of his life—he died in 1803. However, he had reared a large family who continued the ever westward movement. Of his nine sons and daughters, most went to Kentucky. A younger son, James Wesley, went to Alabama to form the branch from which the author of this work is descended.

Samuel Huston, a full cousin of John, had arrived in America at about the same time, possibly in the same group. His granddaughter, Mary Ann Gilmer, became the wife of James Wesley Huston, giving a double strain of Huston blood—a development frequently noted in the history of the family from ancient times.

INTRODUCTION

The idea of stamp duties as a means of revenue in the American colonies did not originate with George Grenville. It had, in fact, been recommended a number of times before the framing of the Stamp Act of 1765. The measure was suggested by Archibald Cummings, a customs official of Boston, in 1716 and 1717, and he recurred to it again in 1722. Stamp duties were also recommended in 1728 and 1742 by Sir William Keith, sometime Deputy Governor of Pennsylvania, and that the policy was seriously considered in the latter year is evident from the fact that Governor Clinton of New York advised against it. At the time of the Seven Years War, the levy of stamp duties was seriously contemplated by the Newcastle ministry; William Pitt favored such a policy, as did also Governor Sharpe of Maryland. However, the individual to whom George Grenville was especially indebted for the policy made famous by the Stamp Act was Henry McCulloh, a holder of vast tracts of land in North Carolina and once a special agent of His Majesty's Government in the Carolinas.

McCulloh was a typical adventurer in the realm of colonial politics and economics. He is said to have been a merchant of London, and his home was at Turnham Green, Middlesex County. He probably became interested in North Carolina through his relations with Gabriel Johnston, to whom he advanced considerable sums of money between 1726 and 1733; indeed, when Johnston, in the latter year, was appointed Governor of North Carolina, McCulloh loaned him the funds to pay for his commission and to purchase the equipment necessary for his new station in life. In the meantime, McCulloh developed an interest in general questions of public administration and in 1733 his name appears in the Treasury Records. Some five years later, in 1738, he presented to the Treasury two memorials concerning the evils in the quit rent and land system of North Carolina, and asked to be employed to correct abuses and make improvements. These memorials came at an opportune time, for His Majesty's Government had not been able to secure satisfactory legislation on quit rents from the Carolina Assemblies nor to break up land speculations by the official classes. It was therefore decided to send McCulloh as a special representative of the Crown with power to reform the administration of the land offices and to bring about better methods in the collection of the rents in North Carolina and South Carolina. He arrived in the latter colony in March 1741, and in September proceeded to North Carolina. It is not necessary here to give an account of his mission, save to note that it was a failure; he antagonized the official classes in both provinces and he did not secure the coöperation of the Assemblies. In 1747 he returned to England after an extended tour of other colonies. His experience in the Carolinas stimulated his interest in questions of colonial administration. In England he defended the protest of the Albemarle counties of North Carolina against the act of 1746, which had reduced their representation. He seems also to have been appointed naval officer at Cape Breton, an office which was vacated after the return of Cape Breton to the French in 1748. A few years later, specifically in 1753, he applied to Lord Halifax and the Duke of Newcastle for an appointment either as Secretary of North Carolina or Naval Officer for the Lower James River District. The former appointment he received in 1754, and in the same year, his friend Arthur Dobbs becoming Governor of the province, he was also appointed a member of the Council and appeared in that body in March 1755. However, he did not long remain in North Carolina; he probably returned to England in the same year to attend to business relating to his land grants. Certainly he was there in 1761, for in that year he sent his son, Henry Eustace McCulloh, to North Carolina to represent his business interests in the colony.

McCulloh's deepest interest in the New World was that of a land speculator. In 1737 the Crown delivered to Murray Crymble and James Huey, trustees for McCulloh, warrants for 1,200,000 acres in North Carolina, on condition that 6,000 foreign Protestants should be colonized. In 1745 the lands were surveyed in tracts of 100,000 acres, which lay on the upper Pee Dee, Cape Fear, and Neuse rivers. Two of the tracts were assigned to John Selwyn and two to Arthur Dobbs, later to be Governor of the province. All grantees were exempt from quit rents until 1756, by which time it was expected that settlements would be completed. Quite naturally there were difficulties in administration. It was found that 475,000 acres were included in the Granville District, and in 1755 a compromise was reached by which McCulloh was to become the tenant of Granville, paying him an annual lump sum until 1760, and thereafter four shillings per hundred acres for land actually settled, and releasing all claims to land not settled. This was the business that probably caused McCulloh to return to England in 1755. With the Crown, also, there were difficulties. By 1754 the number of settlers was only 854, instead of the thousands contemplated in 1737, but on account of the Cherokee War the period at which quit rents were to begin was extended to 1760. There were difficulties in carrying out this agreement, but in 1762 it was decided that McCulloh and his associates should retain the lands actually colonized at the rate of 200 acres for each settler, and that they should surrender all claim for the remainder. But when commissioners began to make a census of the settlers, they met bitter opposition, for many who lived near the South Carolina line claimed land under grants from that province, and others produced grants from the North Carolina land office. In Anson County the authority of the sheriff was invoked by the commissioners, but such was the temper of the people that all effort to apportion lands between the Crown and McCulloh failed. During the Revolution all property rights of McCulloh to lands in North Carolina were confiscated.

Such are the broad outlines of McCulloh's relations with the Carolinas. His experiences and observations caused him to think seriously concerning two problems of imperial administration. The first was the need of a stable colonial currency; so in 1755 he submitted to the Earl of Halifax a bill for creating and issuing bills of credit under the denomination of exchequer bills of Union, to be in general use in His Majesty's colonies. If this measure had been adopted, it would not only have solved the practical currency problems of the Seven Years War in America, but might have driven from circulation colonial currency. The other problem which concerned him was that of the terms of the peace that followed the war. This was the subject of a memorial submitted in 1761 to the Earl of Bute, entitled Miscellaneous Representations Relative to Our Concerns in America. Its theme is that England should not be satisfied with taking from the French merely Canada or Guadaloupe, for Canada would be a liability if Louisiana remained a French possession and Guadaloupe a hindrance to mercantilist ideas of trade unless the neighboring neutral islands were also acquired. As this meant that England, under terms of the peace, should take everything in sight, McCulloh was indeed and in truth a territorial imperialist. But given the increase of territory, there remained the problem of imperial relations. It was his opinion that the whole system of administration should be reorganized. The Indian trade should be regulated, and to finance an Indian establishment in the colonies a "stamp duty on vellum and paper" should be imposed. The colonial currency must be regulated and made uniform. Improved channels of official communication between the colonies and England were necessary, and procedure in financial and judicial matters needed reform. A better illustration of the ideals of the new British imperialism that was soon to dominate colonial policy can hardly be found.

And this memorial was not the end of McCulloh's activity. In July 1763, he addressed a letter to Henry Jenkinson, Secretary of the Treasury in the Grenville Cabinet, in which he gave an account of the taxes collected in the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, noted that a stamp duty at the rates of six, twelve, and eighteen pence per sheet would raise £60,000, and enclosed two bills—one for stamp duties, and one for exchequer bills of credit. This communication was fruitful, for in the following October a comparative statement of stamp duties, including those recommended by McCulloh, those in force in England, and those proposed by the Treasury, was submitted to Grenville, and two days later (October 12) there was a conference between McCulloh and Grenville. Of all this the outcome was the adoption of the Stamp Act as a part of Grenville's program for colonial administration. Thereafter McCulloh is lost sight of; the date of his death is unknown, but he is referred to as living by his son, Henry Eustace McCulloh, as late as 1768.

The Miscellaneous Representations was discovered by the late William A. Shaw, editor of the Calendar of Treasury Books and Papers, and was published in a small edition some years ago by George Harding, noted English bookseller and bibliophile. It is now reprinted with the permission of Mr. Harding. All the known facts concerning McCulloh may be gathered from Mr. Shaw's excellent introduction, the Colonial Records of North Carolina, Mr. Bond's Quit Rents in the American Colonies, Gipson's Jared Ingersoll, (pp. 116-117), and Smith's Grenville Papers (Vol. II, p. 373).

COLONISTS FROM SCOTLAND 941 G739

pg 1 Diasters 1690,1709,1740,1760

pg 2 Hebrides Island is also considered 'Highland'

Orkneys and Shetlands occupants have both characteristics of Highlanders and Lowlanders

Highlanders were loyal to their Chief...spoke Gaelic... still raided the Lowlands up into the mid 1700's pg 3 Highlanders looked down on Lowlanders. After the Stuart cause was defeated at Culloden, 1746, the Highlanders were assimilated into the commercial and industrialized Lowlanders.

pg 4 'Runrig'= land divided into strips
'Crofters'= small parcel of land farmed by the farmer
'Cotter'= small parcel of land worked by a person who also worked part=time for the Lord pg 7 Farms less than 50 acres and many worked by more than one tenant pg 8 'mailings'= small farms that were consolidated and thus was one of the ways that people were driven out of country

pg 9 West Indian planters held in very high esteem, the Scottish people as servants Banishment was a common form of punishment in Scotland. To correct the over crowded prisons, the Judges were prone to send petty thieves etc. over to the New World pg 24 Emigration increased between 1765-1775

pg 26 1772=a Panic(depression) sent many to the Colonies pg 60 Sept 1775=136 farmers and laborers from Glenorchy and Appin were bound for North Carolina. Said they were forced off of the land by the introduction of sheep pg 68 Tacksman=A farmer that farmed part of his land and let the rest out to other tenants. (Tack is a lease) bound for VA took on "fifty Lewd Women out of house of correction, and thirty others who walked the Streets at night".

Between 1717-1775 nearly 10,000 prisoners of Old Bailey Prison in London were transported. Many more were transported from Newgate Prison, London.
Maryland historian Scharf estimated that 20,000 felons were imported into MD before the Revolution, and at least 9 of the 13 colonies are known to have received felons as servants. An estimated 50,000 felons came to the colonies prior to 1775.
Pennsylvania refused to allow landing of felons, and a fine of 50 Pounds Sterling per prisoner was to be levied on any ship captain landing convicts in that colony.

SCOTS PRISONERS WERE TRANSPORTED TO NEW ENGLAND. In 1651 prisoners taken by Cromwell at the Battle of Dunbar were transported. Some 150 Scots were delivered to these colonies, where they were indented for 6, 7, or 8 years service. Prisoners taken at Worcester in 9-1751 also arrived in Boston in 1752, some 272, and their names were recorded by one Hutchinson.
Even a few Worcester prisoners were sent to VA. Those Scots taken prisoner in the 1648 Preston campaign were sent to the Barbadoes.
So we see that persons were transported as felons for political reasons, and treasonous activities. THE GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE 5-31-1747 stated "430 rebel prisoners from the jails of Lancaster, Carlisle, Chester, York, and Lincoln (Britain), were transported this month from Liverpool to the (American) plantations. Eight of them were drowned by a boat over-setting, not being able to swim because handcuffed. This number, with the rest, makes above a thousand rebels transported."

VIRGINIA COMPANY OF LONDON transported some convicts to its new colony. 1619 "divers young people who had been twice punished but not reformed", and in the same year 50 "similar criminals" were sent over.
Bruce in THE ECONOMIC HISTORY OF VIRGINIA, Vol. I, p. 602 "gives particulars concerning a dozen other felons, 9 of them females, shipped to Virginia before 1636." At that time the term "repreived" was used in place of "transported" in the records.
By 1655 under the Commonwealth a dozen felons, 6 women, were transported to VA. In 1665 another 24 were ordered shipped, and 18 in 1667, while 1670 saw the VA House of Burgesses pass an act forbidding the importation of convicts. Their act was promptly nullified by order of the King!

Perhaps some of our "first families of Virginia" came from these very felons, who serving out their time, became leaders of the colony and productive citizens!

CHANGE OF NAME - Mrs. E.P. Whitehead, 535 South Church St., Blakely, GA 31723 asks how a child's name might be legally changed in GA from that of deceased natural father to that of step-father in 1850? Did this require an act of the Legislature? If so, would a record be extant?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The child born in wedlock would carry the surname of his/her father; the child born out of wedlock carried the surname of his/her mother. The wording "natural father" at that time could mean the father of an illegitimate child. This may not be what you are suggesting.
We see legislative or court action to change surnames to LEGITIMIZE those illegitimate children. Although adoption was possible, we seldom find any records of this type until this century. Apparently public usage of the step-father's surname on the child was enough to make this surname legally acceptable.

Directory of SCOTTISH SETTLERS IN NORTH AMERICA

Introduction

During the early seventeenth century emigration from Scotland to America was minimal as emigrants were still going to traditional destinations such as Scandinavia, Poland, Germany, the Netherlands, and France, but increasingly to England and, later, especially to Ulster. The descendants of those who settled in Ulster formed one of the most important groups of immigrants in colonial America —the Scotch-Irish. Probably the bulk of Scots in seventeenth-century America were enforced immigrants (see Directory of Scots Banished to the American Plantations, 1650-1775, Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Company, 1983), but there were individuals who settled within the English colonies as well as those who attempted to form independent Scottish colonies in Nova Scotia (ca. 1625), East New Jersey (1683), South Carolina (1684), and Darien (1698). The political union of Scotland and England in 1707 gave unrestricted access to the potential emigrant from Scotland, and this, together with changing political, economic, and social factors, stimulated emigration from Scotland to the American colonies.

Voluntary immigration to America came mainly from the Lowlands in the seventeenth century but during the eighteenth century it came increasingly from the Highlands. From the late 1730s Highlanders immigrated to Carolina and Georgia, later also to New York and Pennsylvania, and after the Revolution to Prince Edward Island (St. John's Island), Quebec, Nova Scotia, and Ontario (Lower Canada). The indenture system was widely used by those who were unable to pay for their passage. Such emigrants contracted with the sea captain or merchant skipper for five to seven years service in the colonies with a colonist to whom the captain sold his rights under the contract. Some indentured servants were fortunate in that they were trained to hold productive positions, whilst others were so exploited that they broke the terms of their indentures and absconded.

The absence of ships' passenger lists for the seventeenth century and much of the eighteenth century has been a perennial problem for historians and genealogists. Early Scots settlers in America can only be identified from surviving manuscripts such as letters, indentures, land grants, diaries, and similar documents. This, however, only identifies a fraction of the total number of immigrants. By the early 1770s the high rate of immigration to America resulted in legislation which made compulsory the listing of emigrants. This continued until 1776 when emigration was prohibited. Those lists that have survived, in conjunction with a few of later date, do provide the names of many Scots emigrants of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

Based on documents found in British archives, as well as on some few published sources, this book brings together in concise form the names of all Scots emigrants appearing in ships' passenger lists before 1825. In addition, there are listed here more than 1,000 Scots who settled in America between 1625 and 1825 and whose names have been located in miscellaneous sources, both published and manuscript.

I should like to record my thanks to the following institutions for access to and permission to quote from their records: Aberdeen City Archives; Library of the University of St. Andrews (MS377284-37322); London Guildhall Library; London Records Office; National Library of Scotland; Public Record Office; Scottish Catholic Archives; Scottish Genealogy Society; Scottish Record Office; Strathclyde Regional Archives; and the Worshipful Company of Fishmongers of London.

THE McCULLAH TRAIL
FROM VIRGINIA TO TENNESSEE AND TO MISSOURI
By Willis McCullah

In following the oral narrative by James A. McCullah of his father Alexander, it is my endeavor to give a more detailed account of the latter's travels from his home in Wythe County, Va., in 1805 at the age of 12.

The early settlers of Virginia used two routes in their travels west but the one through Alexandria, Richmond and the Cumberland Gap as followed by Daniel Boone was doubtless the one used by Alexander and his mother when they crossed the Cumberland mountains barefooted. This route was an important thoroughfare in the state from east to west Tennessee for half a century and a fort was established at Southwest, (now Kingston), in 1792 to protect the whites from the Indians.

The family first settled in Hawkins Co., Tenn. After enlisting and serving in the War of 1812, Alexander married Miss Lucy Robertson and went to housekeeping on a rented farm in Monroe County. Then he bought a small farm in McMinn County and on Jan. 1, 1840 bought a 200-acre farm in Roane County near Kingston. He sold this farm on Sept. 26, 1849, and on Oct. 19 started to Missouri in two four-horse wagons.

The first town mentioned is "Craborn." Intensive search does not reveal any town by that name, and I infer it was "Crab Orchard." This town was close to the McCullah homestead and was the first town they came to after getting onto the highway proper, Crab Orchard was a small settlement in the Cumberland mountains, partly in a canyon, and was supplied with good water, a tavern and "feed lots" for the home seeker traveling westward, and also offered an opportunity of "joining up" with other emigrant trains.

There were two rival roads leading west, but the Gordon Turnpike was considered the best and nearest across the 100 mile stretch of mountains, as there was fire and water and provender at each "stop," while ordinaries and taverns were located every 10 miles, such as "Post Oak."

Next came "Carthage and Lebanon." The narrative does not mention Nashville, but it was directly on the route. After Nashville, they crossed the Harpeth river at Kingston Springs, then through Dickson and Dover, in the meantime having crossed Kellow, Wells, Elk and Long creeks. Leaving Dover they climbed the "hog-back."

The "hog-back" was a state road established in 1830 and followed the ridge between the two rivers. It was 50 miles from Dover to Smithland and was supposed to be 60 feet wide, but it never did reach this width, and today it is merely a dim trail, untraveled and forgotten. On the west was the Tennessee river and on the east the Cumberland for the whole distance, often only a mile apart, and never more than five miles. Reaching Smithland they came to a halt, to rest and camp.

Smithland, Ky., is one of the oldest towns in Kentucky. It sits on the banks of the Ohio river at the mouth of the Cumberland. A ferry over this river was established in 1830 by Joe Watts, but was owned by the town. Joe had to ferry all the people free on court days, holidays, etc., known as "public days." Crossing the Cumberland they came to Salty Point. Here the road turned back south for 60 miles to Hopkinsville, Ky., and then back north another 60 to Fords Ferry on the Ohio. There was a "coon" road from Salty Point to Fords Ferry—50 miles—but it was only fit for "coons" and other "varmints." Then came Equality, Carlisle, Belleville, Ill., and the ferry at St. Louis over the Mississippi.

Then on to Steelville, Mo., and on 12 miles west to Massey's Iron Works in the eastern part of Phelps Co., (est. in 1829 by Samuel Massey), where they had shelter and food. Then on to Rolla—then 12 miles west to Uncle Jimmy Harrison's place at the mouth of Little Piney, where there was a store for the accommodation of travelers. His home was also the Court House for the whole of Southwest Mo. in the early days and the only Post Office up to 1832. Then west 20 miles to Big Piney and on to Roubideaux (now Waynesville). On and on and up the Gasconade to the mouth of the Osage fork, to the old Oakland P. O. and "old Jim Campbell's," the "sheriff" of all southern Mo., then to Cave Springs, crossing the Osage fork and leaving it at the old Bennett place, then to Pleasant Prairie (Marshfield), striking down the James fork of the White river 20 miles east of Springfield, then down to Jerry Piersons, who had built a little water mill there, then on west to Kickapoo Prairie, then 5 miles west to the natural well at Springfield, then 10 miles southwest to Grand Prairie and home, near Hurley, Mo. with Wesley and Melcena, and Uncle "B" and Rebecca. Time 35 days.

EARLY ANCESTORS

The name McCullah has been spelled in various ways in the East, usually signed by some official, who probably spelled it the way it suited him, and the signer merely repeating his way of spelling. But many signatures are given in which the spelling is as we know it today.

Our first known McCullah ancestor, in direct line, is Thomas 1 McCullough, who was granted an "ordinary" (license) for his home in Augusta Co., Va. on Feb. 18, 1745. His son, Henry 2 McCulloch, our second known ancestor, was a Scotchman by blood, who came from Scotland to America in an early day. He made a will leaving his property to two sons and two daughters, Alexander 3 our third known ancestor, William, Nancy and Vaney, in Hawkins Co., Tenn. and Henry.

See will of Henry 2 McCullough on page 22A.

Alexander 3 married Rebecca Wheat and they became the parents of Alexander 4 McCullah. Alexander 3 and Rebecca had only the one son, then separated. He married Elizabeth McNutt and they had James and Emily McCullah. Rebecca married John Lamb and they had seven children born to them.

On Lucy's side of the family the earliest known ancestor, in direct line, William 1 Laine, Sr., was born about 1700 in Goochland Co., Va. His children were William, Thomas 2 and John, of whom Thomas 2 is our second known Lane ancestor in direct line. He was born about 1725 and died in Amherst (now Nelson) Co. Va. by 1801. His children were Wm., James, Joseph, Thomas, John, Charles, Randolph, Elizabeth 3, our third, and Sally Laine.

Elizabeth 3 Lane was born after 1771 and died Mar. 2, 1838 in Monroe Co., Tenn. She was married in Amherst Co., Va., Mar. 17, 1789 to Thomas Robertson, evidently a son of Arthur Robertson and brother of Mary Robertson, who married Elizabeth's brother Randolph Lane. License gives consent of her father, Thomas Lane, and witnesses Charles and William Lane. Thomas Robertson was drafted in Amherst Co., Va. late in 1780 and served under Captain Richard Ballinger. He went to Cooke Co., Tenn. in 1792; to Roane Co., Tenn. in 1808; and to Monroe Co., Tenn. in 1822. He was born in 1763 and died in Monroe Co., Tenn. in 1834. He came from Ireland about 1780 and located in Virginia. Thomas and Elizabeth had eleven children of whom our Lucy 4 was 6th. Information concerning these families is limited and is given in the 1955 McCullah-Wasson book. From here on we are concerned only with the descendants of Alexander 4 and Lucy 4 (Robertson) McCullah.

ALEXANDER McCULLAH

Alexander [4] McCullah was born July 16, 1793 in Wythe Co., Va., son of Alexander [3] and Rebecca (Wheat) McCullah, and died April 18, 1856. His parents separated and Rebecca married John Lamb. About 1805 there was a severe drought in the state of Virginia and very little bread stuff was raised. For this reason Alexander's family decided to leave there and go to Tennessee. So, at the age of 12, Alexander with his mother, Rebecca, her husband, John Lamb, her brother, Hezekiah, and daughter, Elizabeth, walked barefooted across the Cumberland mountains, through the Cumberland Gap, with one pack horse, one pack of cooked corn meal and one bundle each of clothing, leaving all their household goods and stock behind. They settled in Hawkins Co., where they found a "plenty". An account of the trail from Virginia to Tennessee and to Missouri is given on page 20.

Alexander remained with his mother and stepfather until he was about 15 years old. He then hired out to a man for three years and renewed his stay for two years more, working in a still house, stilling whiskey and peach brandy. During the last year of this time he was "struck under conviction" and walked seventeen miles to a camp meeting on Saturday evening and night, and on the following Sunday night was converted and joined the Methodist Church. He returned that night to his employer and finished the work with him.

He then volunteered in the U.S. Army to fight the English, 1812-1814. He served under Col. Blue, the regiment being under the command of General Stonewall Jackson. He was a private in Captain Roger's company of Tennessee Militia. He was discharged in 1815 and for his services he received a Military Grant signed by President Buchanan, which he applied on the Stone Co., Mo. farm. Following Alexander's history a photostatic copy from the National Archives and Records, Washington D.C., of his Certificate of Identity and Oath of Service is given.

See note on Alexander McCullah on page 22A

On Mar. 14, 1819, Alexander married Lucy [4] Robertson (Feb. 18, 1799 - Dec. 1, 1849), daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Lane) Robertson, in Blunt Co., Tenn. They started housekeeping on a rented farm two miles above Philadelphia in Monroe Co., Tenn. In 1829 they bought a small farm north of Athens, the county seat of McMinn Co. In 1840 they sold this and bought a farm of 200 acres on the north bank of the Tennessee River, ten miles southeast of Kingston, the county seat of Roan Co. It was in the bend of the river, and the rest of the land in the bend was owned by a man who had a distillery, a race track and a lot of rough, wicked, hiredmen. There was no church, no school and no society. They moved there on Mar. 4, 1840 and in the winter of 1841 had a great revival in that bend with 153 conversions.

HAWKINS COUNTY, TENNESSEE WILL BOOK
Vol. 2, P. 354. Dated March 20, 1834. May term 1834.

WILL OF HENRY [2] McCULLOUGH

I Henry McCullough Senior of County of Hawkins and State of Tennessee being of sound mind and memory, doth make this my last Will and Testament in the following manner.

First. I give and bequeath to my son Alexander McCullough the plantation where I now live together with all my horses and hogs and farming utensils of every description whatsoever and my still and vessels belonging thereto, one bed and furniture called his and one called mine with its furniture.

2. I give to my daughter Nancy McCullough all my household furniture of every description together with all my cattle only (P. 355) my pot metal, and that to be divided equally between Alexander and Nancy. Alexander is to pay my son Henry McCullough a horse beast to be worth sixty dollars, when said Henry is twenty-one years of age the horse to be valued equal to good trade.

Alexander and Nancy to pay all my just debts equally between them out of their respective shares. I have lately given to my son William a mare and I was to have the colt that I allow to Voney.

Lastly I do constitute and appoint my brother Joseph McCullough my Executor and to enter on the administration without giving Security.

In testimony whereof I have set my hand and seal, this 20th day of March, 1834.

Henry (his X mark) McCullough

Signed sealed in the presence of

Johnathan Huffucoster
Peter (his X mark) Beal
Johnathan Morlan

(Copied from record in the Tennessee State Library, Nashville, on May 22, 1969, by Fred G. Mieswinkel, 512 Seneker, Mt. Vernon, Mo. 65712.)

(The spelling of McCullah is not the same as we have it in our book, but given names are the same so this would be our ancestor. Also, from this, we find that Henry [2] had another son, Henry, and a brother Joseph.)

ALEXANDER McCULLAH

The war of 1812 with the English, in which Alexander McCullah served, does not make his descendants eligible to join the D.A.R. or Sons of the Revolution. However, all are eligible through Thomas Robertson, another ancestor, whose record is given on page 21. Proof may be obtained by sending $1.00 to the National Archives, Washington, D.C.

This has been proved by Anabel (Mrs. Bud) Croasman, 933 W. Oak St., Willows, Calif. 95988, who is a niece of Willis McCullah
